PROPHECY

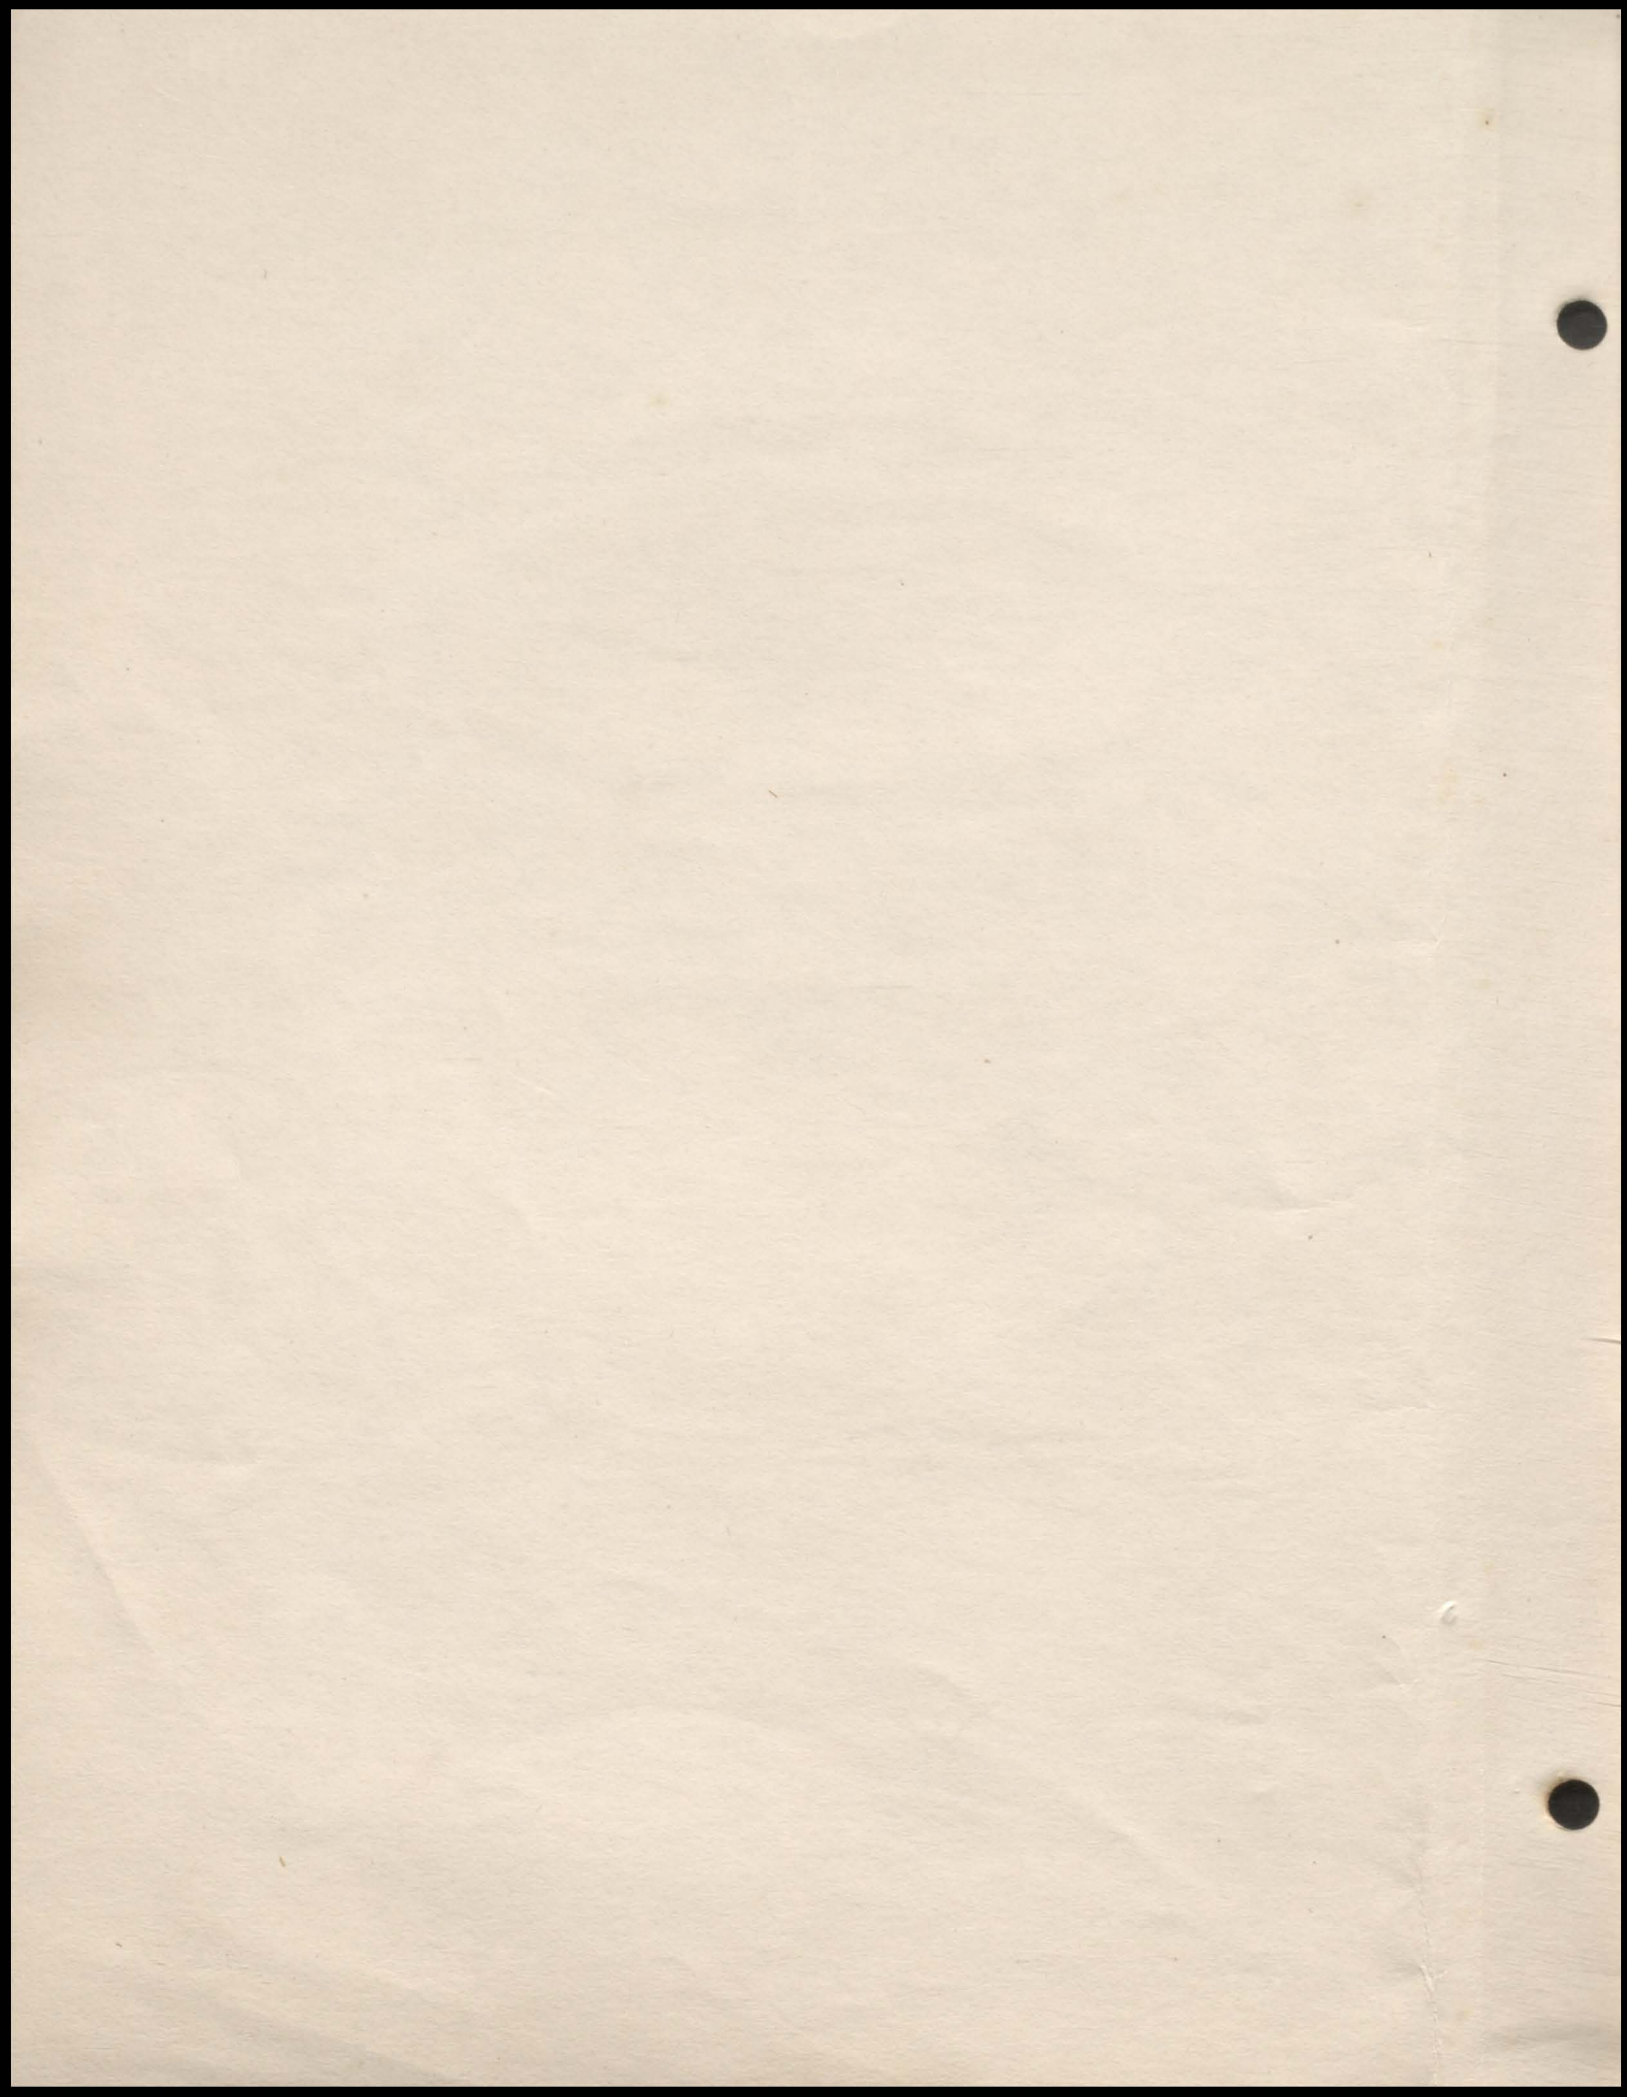

While walking down Main Street in Markham this beautiful spring morning of the year 1935 A.D., my thoughts automatically turn to my "deah ole classmates" whom I have not seen since we all parted ways, way back in 1943. I decided that since I'm in this part of the country I'll look them up. Down the street I see a cafe and decide to go in and borrow a phone directory.

At first I get no meaning from the cafe's name "Perry's Parking Point", so imagine my surprise when behind the bar I see none other than my old classmate Louvelle. She informed me that she bought the dump so she could eat at all hours. Her best customer is Clyde the Cyclone, our famous world champion professional football player. To my surprise I learned that he was married. People say that she proposed.

I soon left my old friends because I had other classmates to look up. While sauntering down the street I passed a vaudeville show and saw in bright lights the name---DOROTHEA JEANNE WANDERWILT----- none other than our blonde terror, Dot Jane Watkins. Gee, has she come up in the world. Her present leading man is, to my utter surprise, another classmate-- Victor LeTulle Frick, a second John Payne. Dot tells me that Jessie is mixed up in some sort of racket and is really bringing in the "do-re-me". As well as I could learn, it was a Letter-Writing-Bureau. Jessie will write any sort of letter to any one, for anyone, for ten-cents a word.

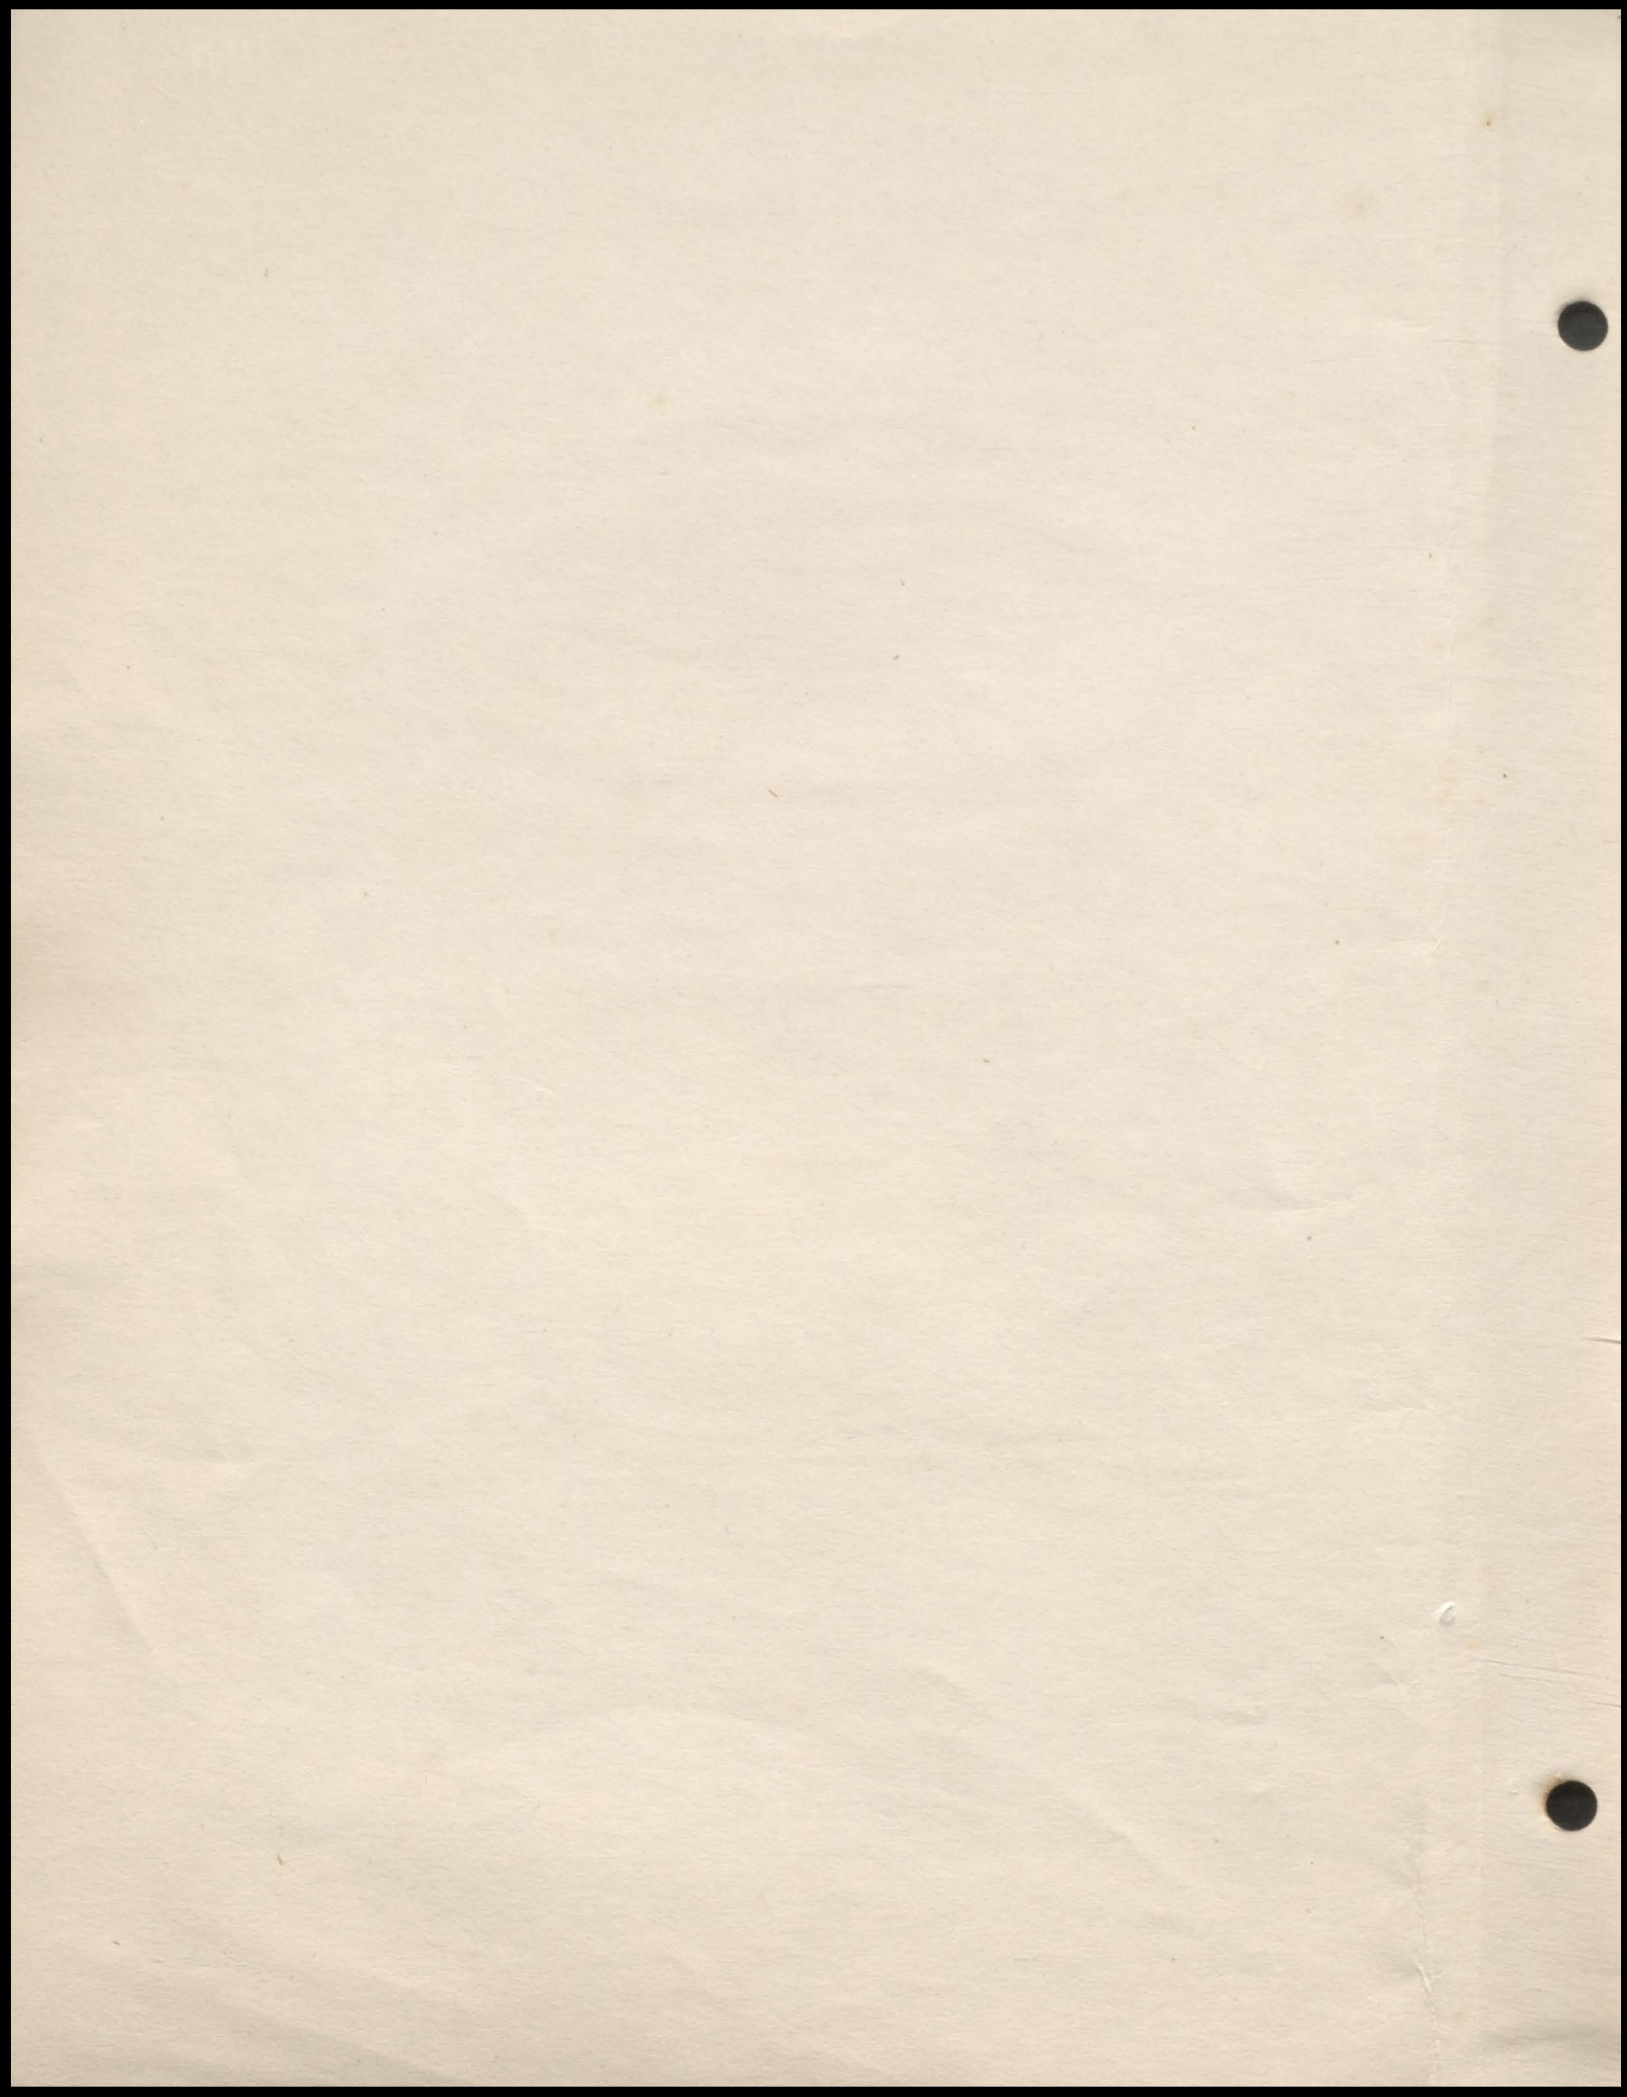

After leaving Dot and V.L., I strolled on down Main Street. Upon entering Ye Olde Grocery Store-- who did I run into but dear old Harold Barton. He was buying candy for his three little girls. He tells me that he and his wife are very happy in their little nook in Clemville and he is now President and Main Driver of the Johnson Truck Line. I inquired about the whereabouts of some of my old friends and I was told that Silvy has a Honky-Tonk on the ole Highway 35. It used to go by the name of "Travlers Inn" but now he has changed the name to "Krush Inn". Barton says he is doing wonderful business and in another ten years he'll have paid his last installment.

Since I had other things to do, I told Barton good-bye and left the Ye Olde Grocery Store. As I stopped on the side-walk there confronting me was a poster saying "Cornelius for Senator". Glancing on down the sign I stared right into the laughing brown eyes of my old friend and classmate, Leonard. It seems he made such a success of his ranch on the outskirts of Markham he became acquainted with many prominent politicians and they induced him to run for Senator. He has a Hill-Billy Band led by Mr. George David Elliott, now a famous band leader. G.D.'s band is one of the most celebrated Hill-Billy bands in all the hills of Kentucky and Tennessee--since he's never been out of Texas. L.P.

Seeing an unusual movement and bustle down at the end of Main Street, I wandered down there and found the new Army Camp, Camp Bram. The name Bram instantly brought to my mind the remembrance of an old classmate, Elve, whom I had heard was a General. I entered the Camp and seeing a Buck Private in the middle of a Crap Game I asked him to direct me to the General's Headquarters. The Private, to my surprise, was Teddy Thurston Quinney. I found out that he had turned down countless chances for promotion and stayed in the Army after the war on account of the food, money, and the lack of responsibility of a Buck Private. As bad as I hated to, I had to leave Teddy because my time in Markham was limited and I had other friends to find. After a great length of time I came to a huge building on which was the sign "Camp Headquarters". I entered and asked for my old friend Elve. At first I had difficulty in reaching him because so many other people were trying to do the same thing. But at great length, Elve recognized my name and I was admitted at once. He told me that Ted had more monthly income than anyone he knew of because of Ted's many side lines. Elve could tell me so much about my friends in Markham. Elve told me, strictly confidentially, of course, that Evelyn was married. Elve also told me that just as soon as the war was over Louise married her beloved, Wayne. Well, they were married and now they have three little exemptions to bless their home.

Well, as my vacation was over, I returned to Chicago to my job on the newspaper. I'm writing all this in hope that someone will enjoy the prophecy of my classmates---Irene Barber and Jessie Charline Robertson---

ATHLETICS

TRIBUTE TO THE MUSTANGS

With two strikes on them from the start the Mustangs of Markham rallied and turned in a fairly successful season.

The Mustang football team, with only four of its thirteen lettermen of last year back, won four of its five games. With boys with little experience the Mustangs lost only one heartbreaker to the fine team of La Ward. The season ended up with Markham, Blessing, and La Ward in a three-way tie for the championship. The basketball team did not ride the tide so easily. With only two lettermen back it won only two of its games. However the team learned from experience and improved toward the last. It improved so well, in fact, that it won second in the district tournament.

The volleyball girls turned in a fine season record. They won three out of four contests for a fine record.

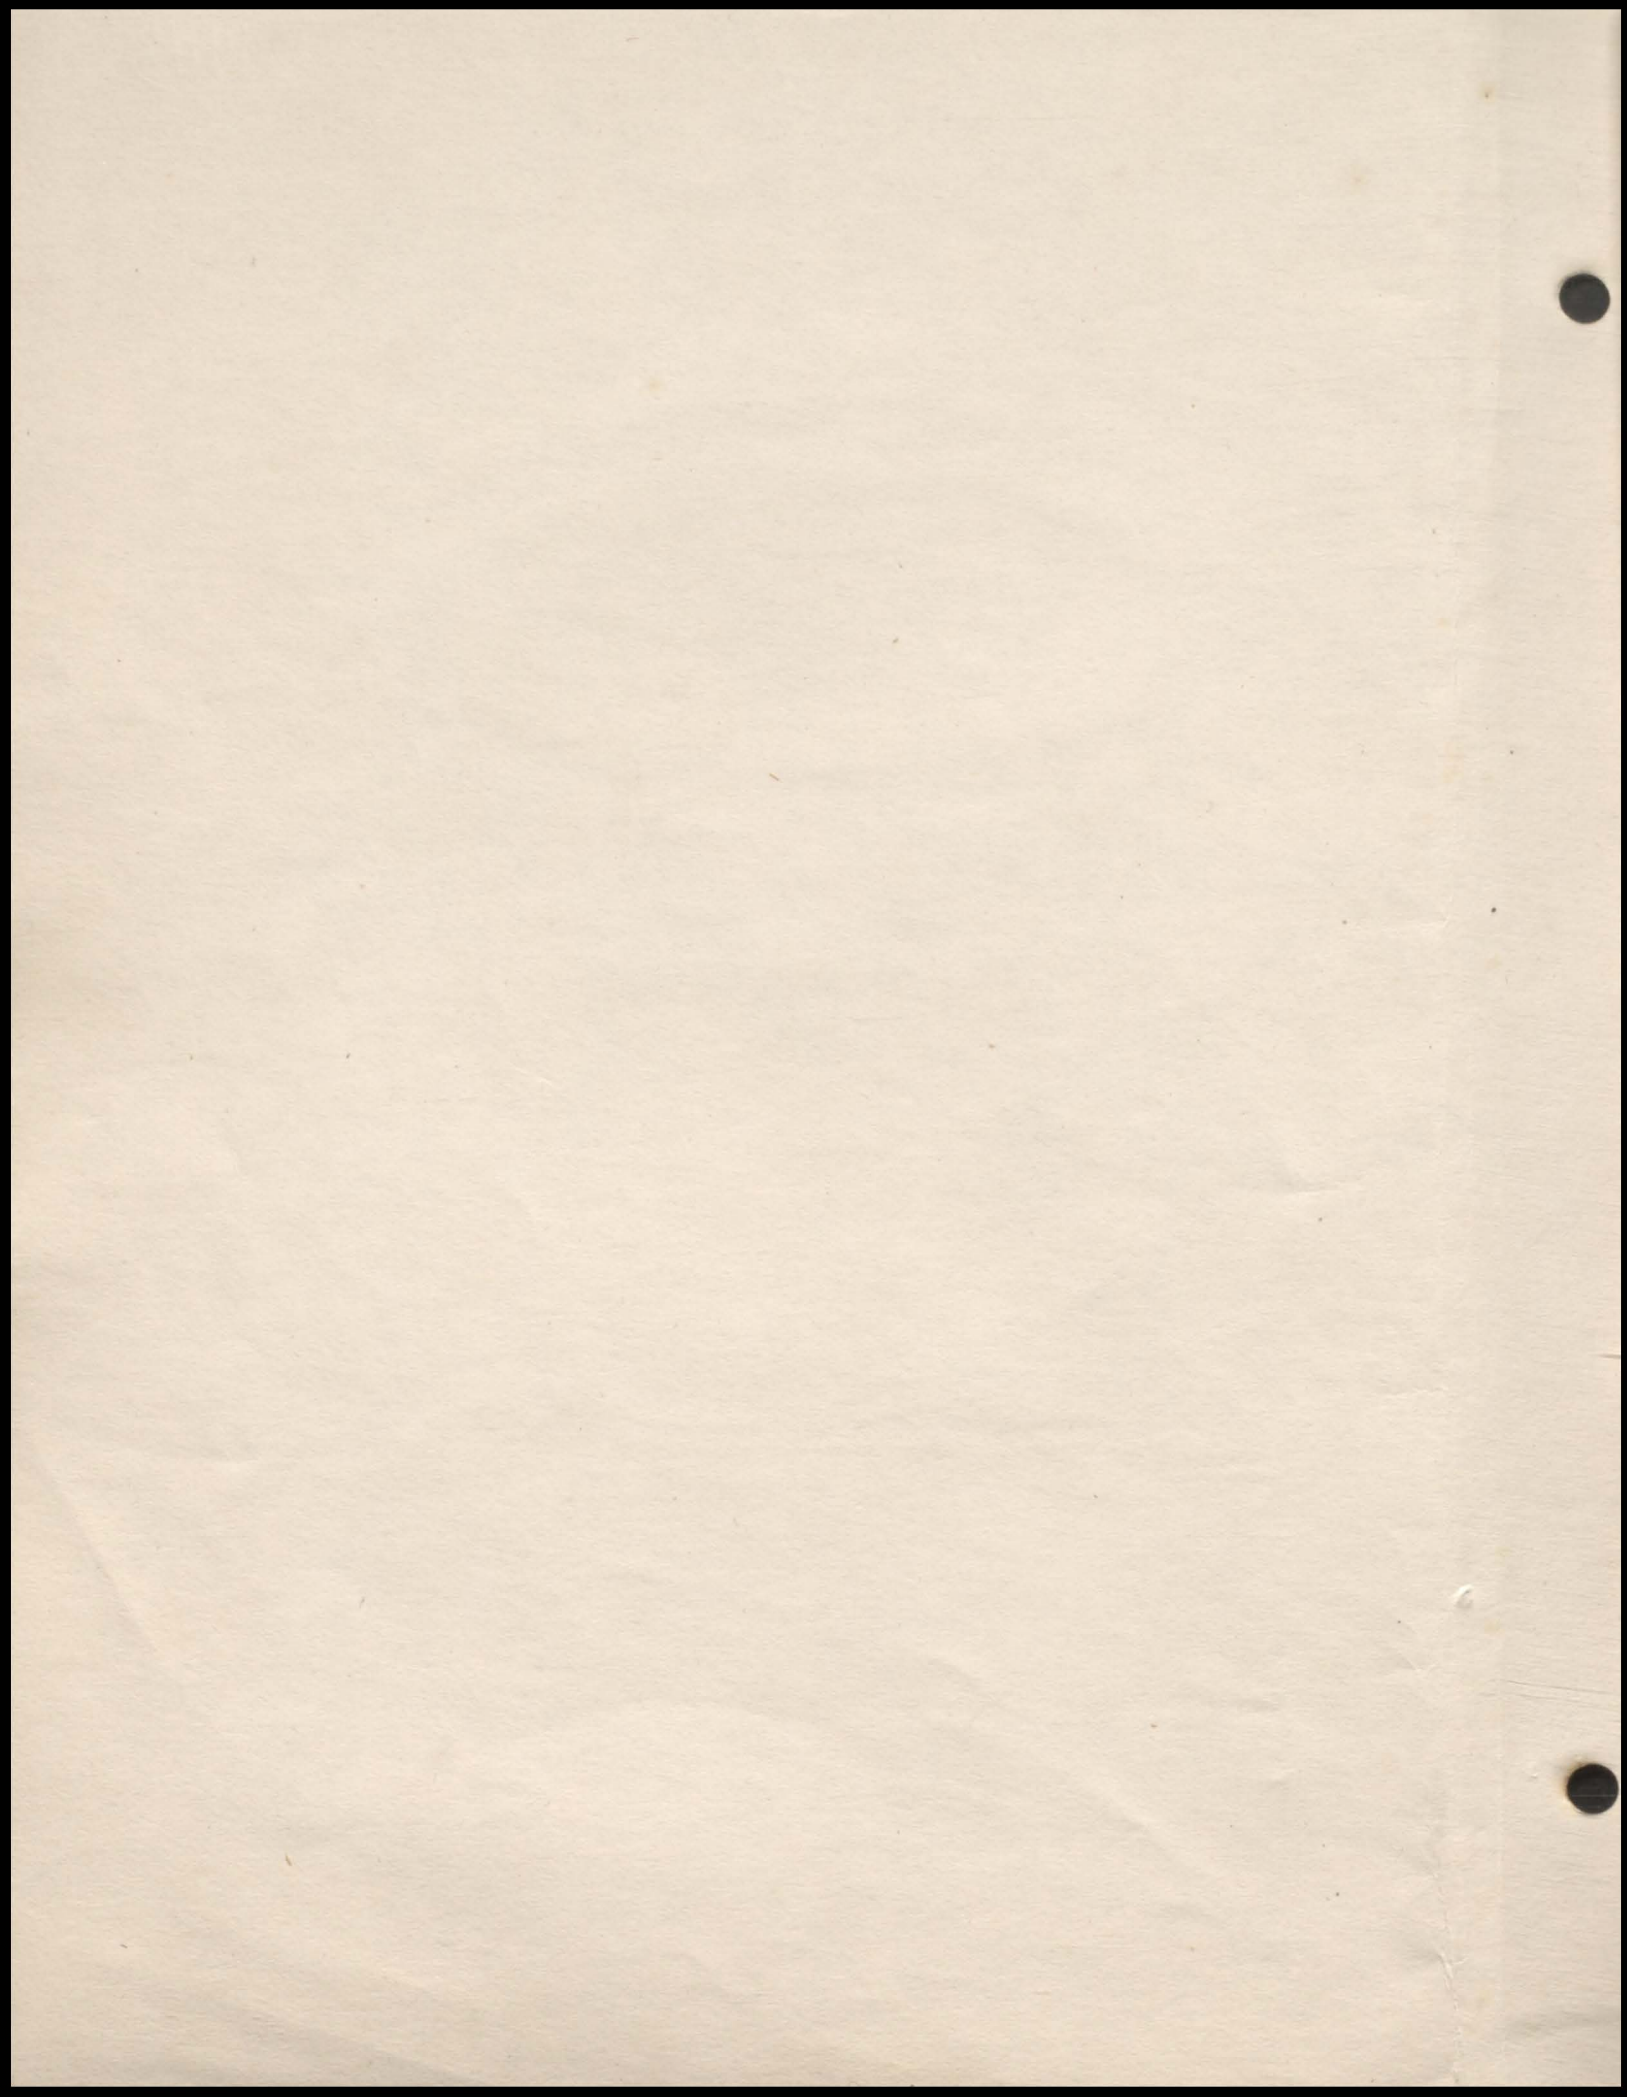

Our seasons were short with few games; but this was because of the War.

Our "B" team won two games and lost two in basketball. This proved to be a very nice record.

Yes, we believe that the Markham School can be proud of its athletic record.

We also want to thank our supporters who have stuck with us through victory and defeats. We appreciate it.
