We take great pride in presenting the 1951 TIGER.

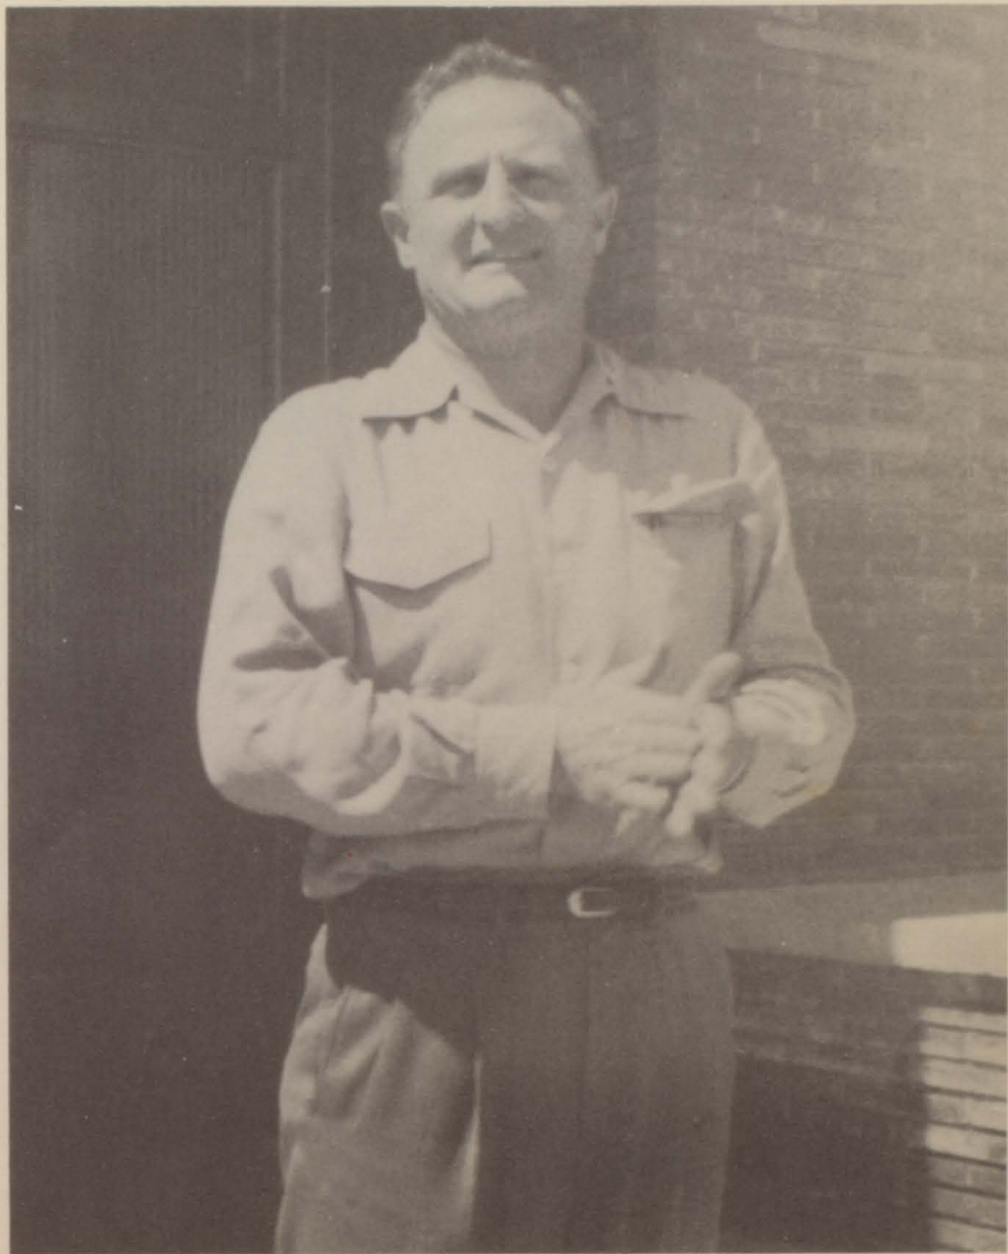

It is our wish that the enjoyment you receive from this annual will multiply many times in the future years.

As our second year at Tidehaven High School draws to a close, we begin looking forward to next year--a year for higher ideals and greater achievements.

Superintendent's Message

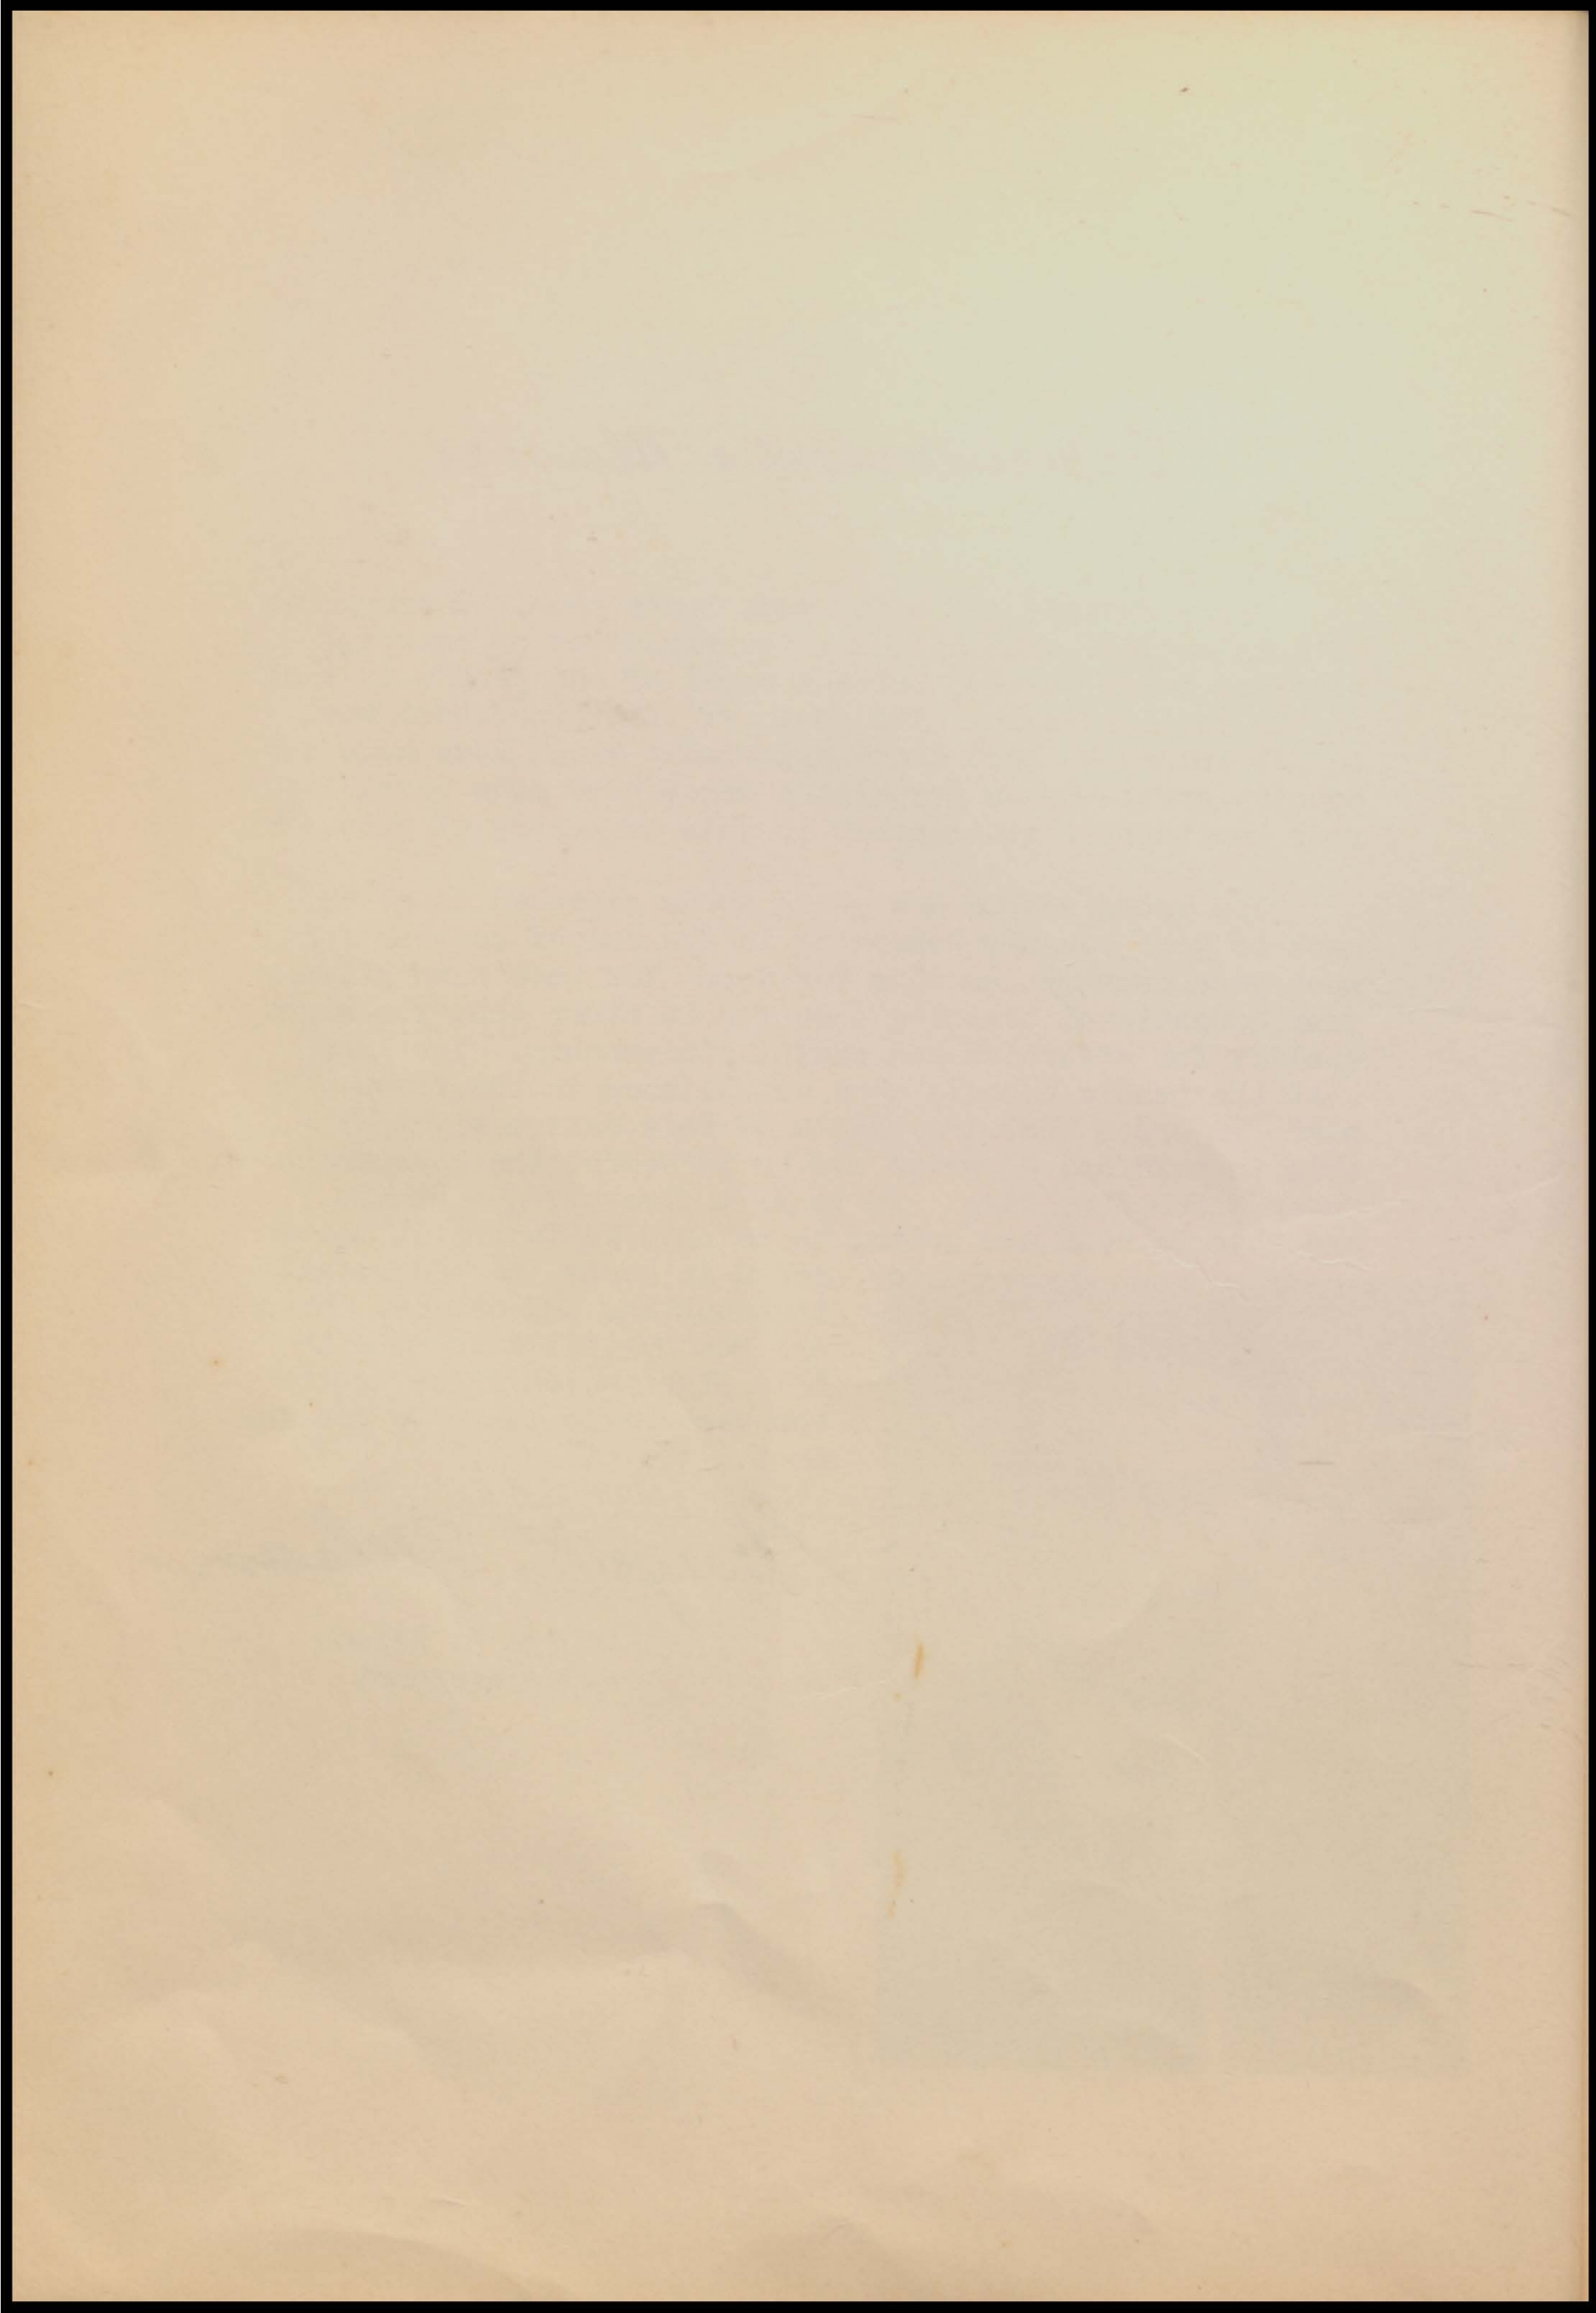

Heavy demands are being made today upon the resources of this nation. Not only are the resources of material supplies being tested, but the moral of our people is also on the testing scale. The youth of this generation must be determined to hold those principles which have made our country great--those principles which have made possible your heritage of citizenship in this democracy of ours.

You young people are going to be expected to give back to your country something in the way of service for what your country has done for you. You have been given your educational training thus far in order that you might qualify for effective and useful citizenship. You know that the public schools were established in the first place in order that the people of this nation might be able to read and to write and to interpret the government under which they live. So it is a fine thing that you are able to read and write, to be able to interpret matter found in books, to understand instructions and orders. Thus are you qualified to help in this fight which rages against the democratic ideas in government.

Motto

AFTER COMMENCEMENT, COMMENCE

Senior Class Prophecy

As my tour of the vast United States of America comes to an end, I feel compelled to record the heart-warming encounters with the Seniors of 1951.

When my journey brought me to Texas, I was immediately drawn into a stream of traffic. My curiosity being aroused, I followed. To my amazement, the point of destination was the boom town of Midfield. It was well on its way to becoming the largest metropolis in the U.S. I was welcomed by the great mayor and politician, A. V. Bosak. Because of his generous nature, I was presented with a key--not of the city, but of the 'One and Only Bank' in Midfield.

Upon further investigation, I found the bank president to be Archie Massoletti. He confided that the banking business was rather stuffy at times, so, to break the monotony, he operated a very swank night club.

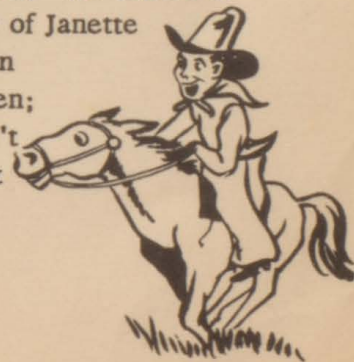

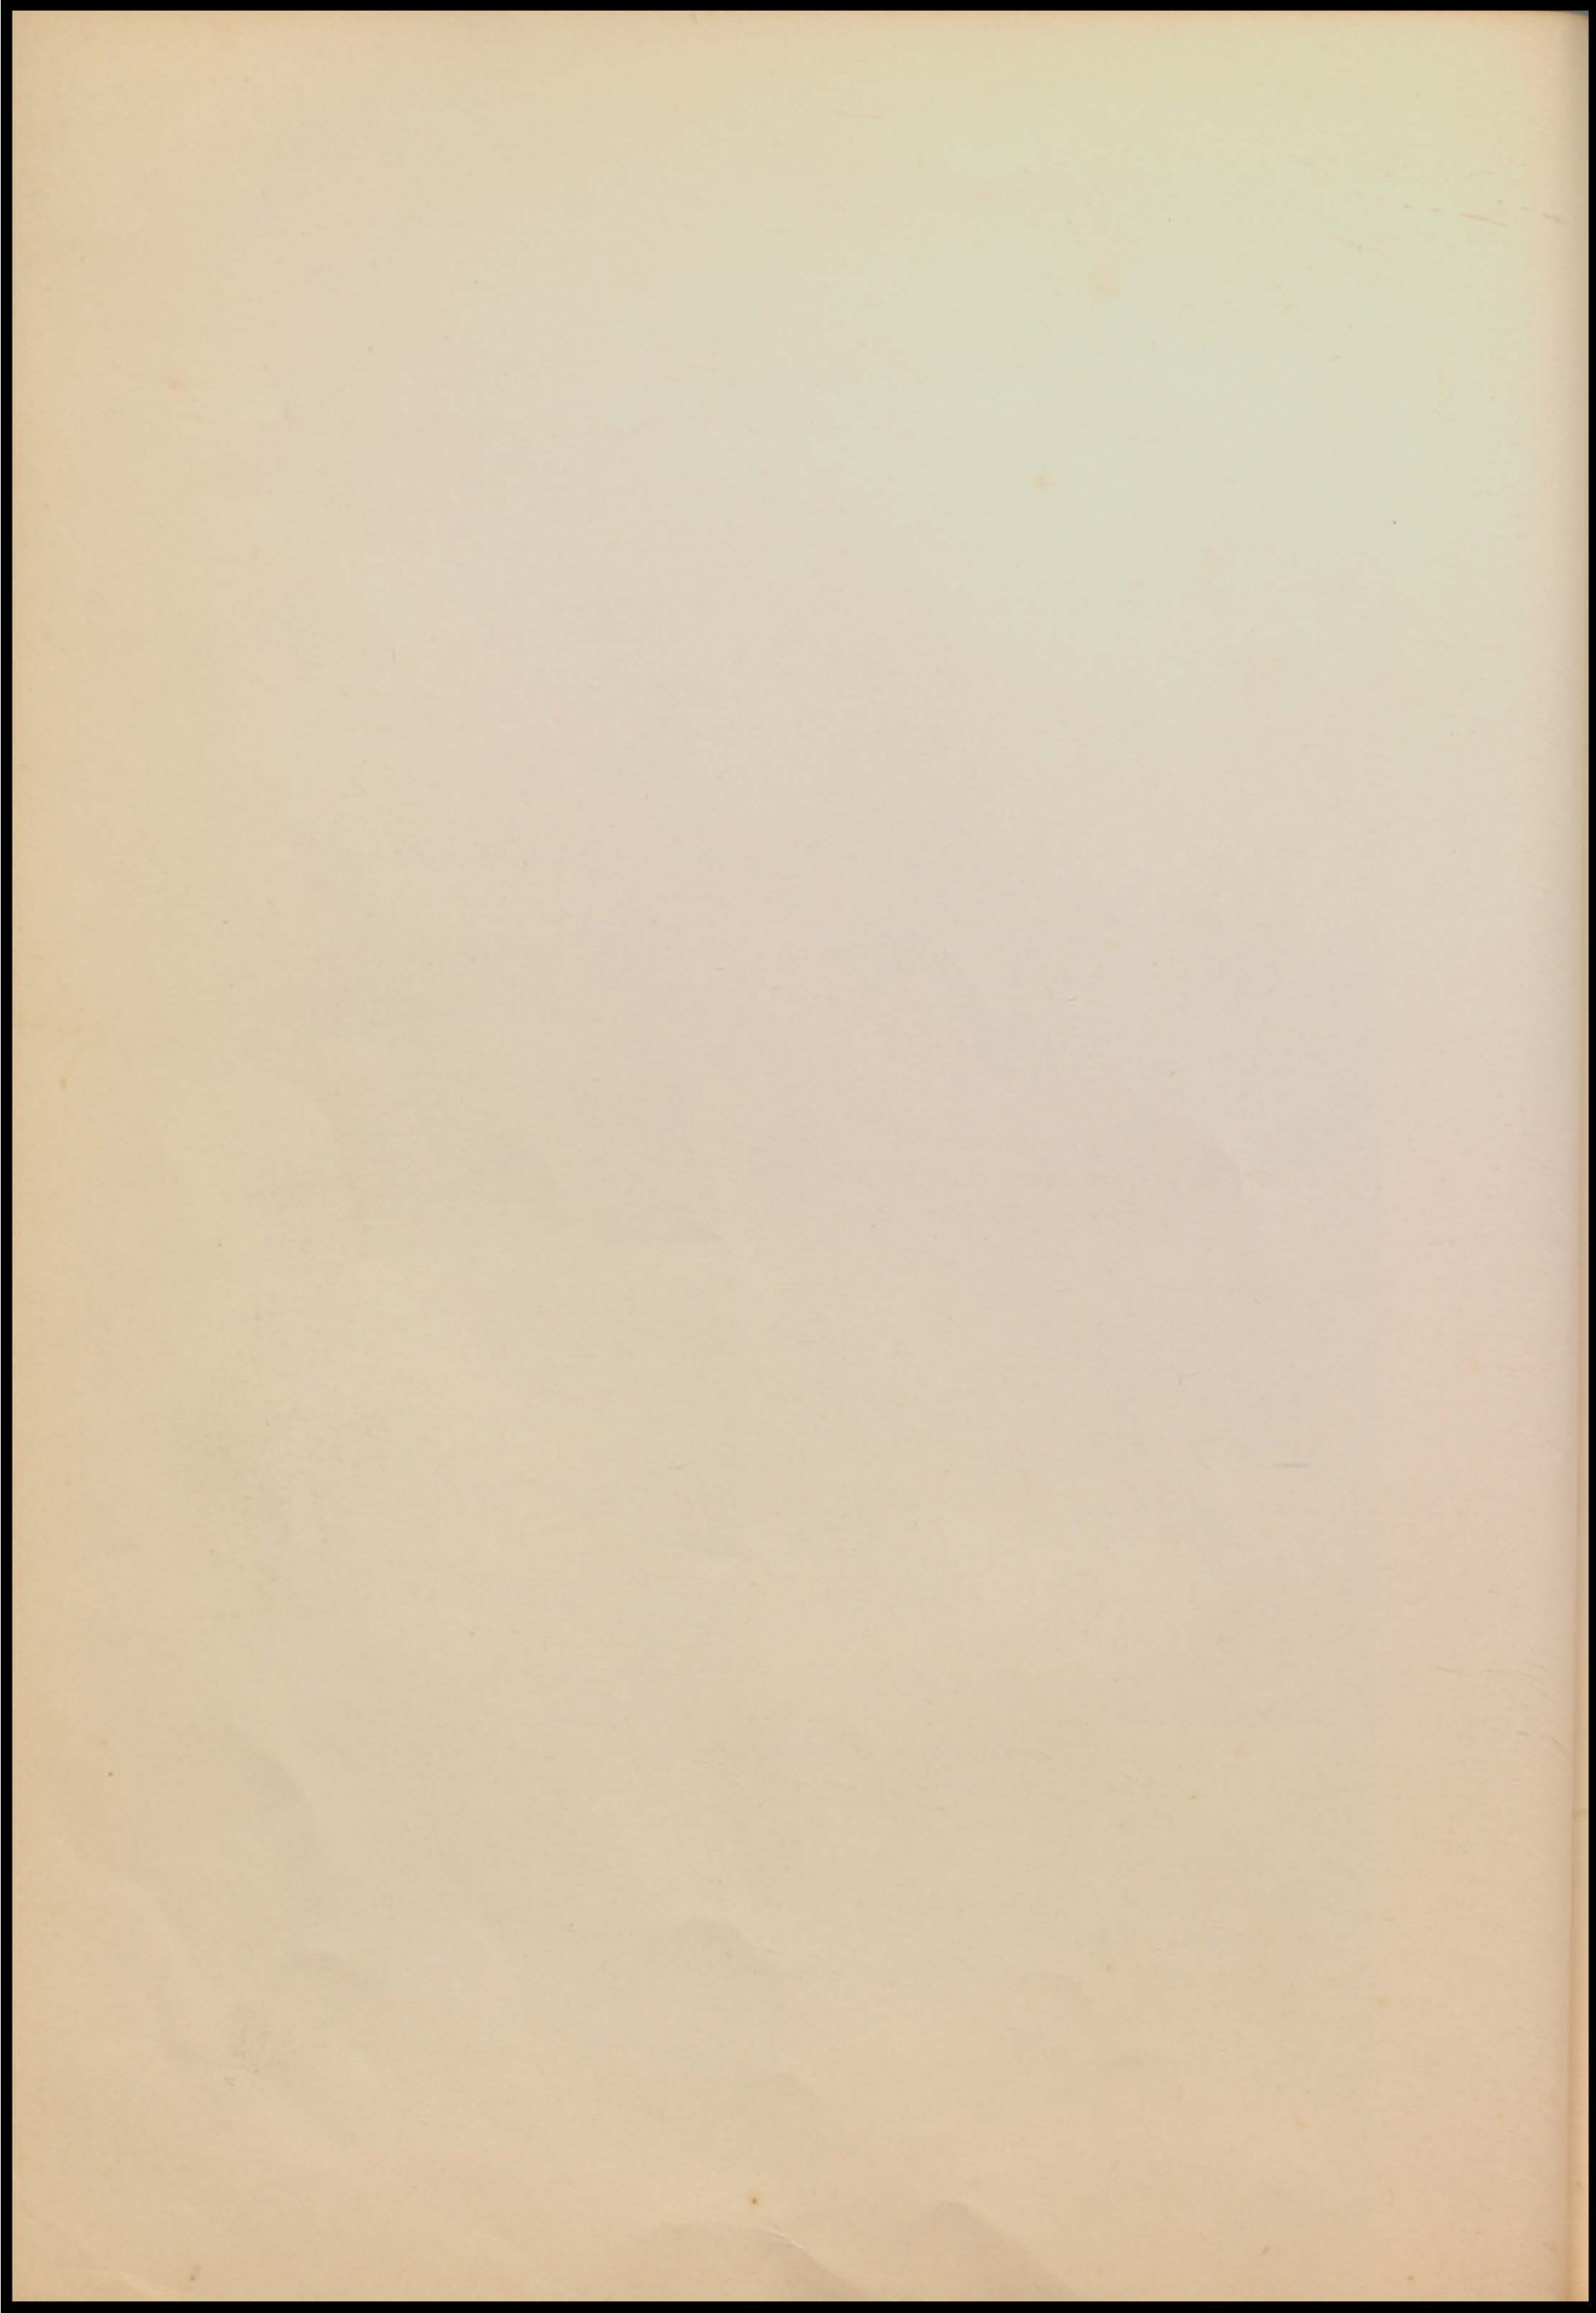

When I left Archie, in search of more old classmates, I decided to go to Blessing; fearing the heavy traffic, I chartered a private plane. To my amazement, the pilot was Charles Driscoll. On the way to Blessing he told me of his happy wedded life with Lucille Gonzales. He said she was successfully combining a career with being a housewife. She is a singer in Archie's night club. He said they had twelve children (including quads).

As I strolled through the streets of Blessing, I found several changes in the landscape. The first was a breath-taking structure of architecture with flaming red neon lights. Upon further investigation, I found this building to be the lavish "Hotel Upton." The owner and manager, Kenneth Upton, informed me that only well-known celebrities were patronized. From a glance at the register, I saw that one of the guests at the hotel was 'Limp-Along' Day, a Madison Square Garden bronc rider.

Having seen all my old classmates from Blessing, I decided to make my next stop El Maton. To my amazement, I found the taxi driver I had summoned to be Bobby Hebert. She said this job was only a hobby, however, because she liked meeting the public. She is, and has been the Belle of Blessing ever since her "coming out." Consequently, this takes up most of her time. We talked of old times and friends. She brought me up to date on the career of Janette Lawhon. The last time I saw Janette, she had begun work for an oil company in Houston. Bobby said she had advanced since then; she is now president. I asked for her address, but Bobby couldn't give me that. It seems that she has had so many husbands, that no one can keep up with her name and address.

As we neared El Maton, I saw a mailbox with Gen. Louis Havel written on the side of it. I told Bobby to let me off there. When I rang the doorbell, who do you think I found? Louise Svetlik Havel. She said she was alone, as Louis had a few more years to serve before he could retire. She seemed to have plenty to do, however, for they owned a pig farm.

While Louise went to feed the pigs, I looked through a local newspaper. The first advertisement I saw was that of Dorothy and Ann Hickl. They were in business together; the business being a Lonely Hearts Club. From all reports, they seem to be doing very well for themselves.

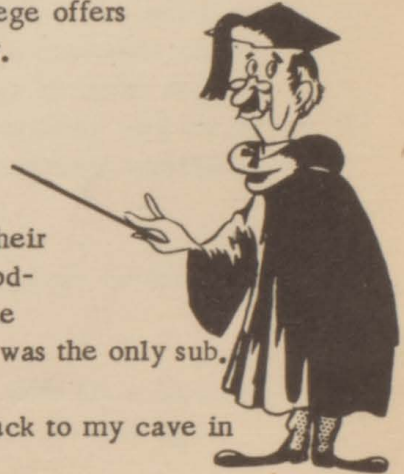

The up-and-coming young actor Roy Smith and his favorite leading lady, Bernice Gaas, have opened up the "Summer Theatre" in El Maton. Their present production is "Aaron Slick from Punkin Crick." It is expected to be a great hit, and will, no doubt, bring them world-wide fame.

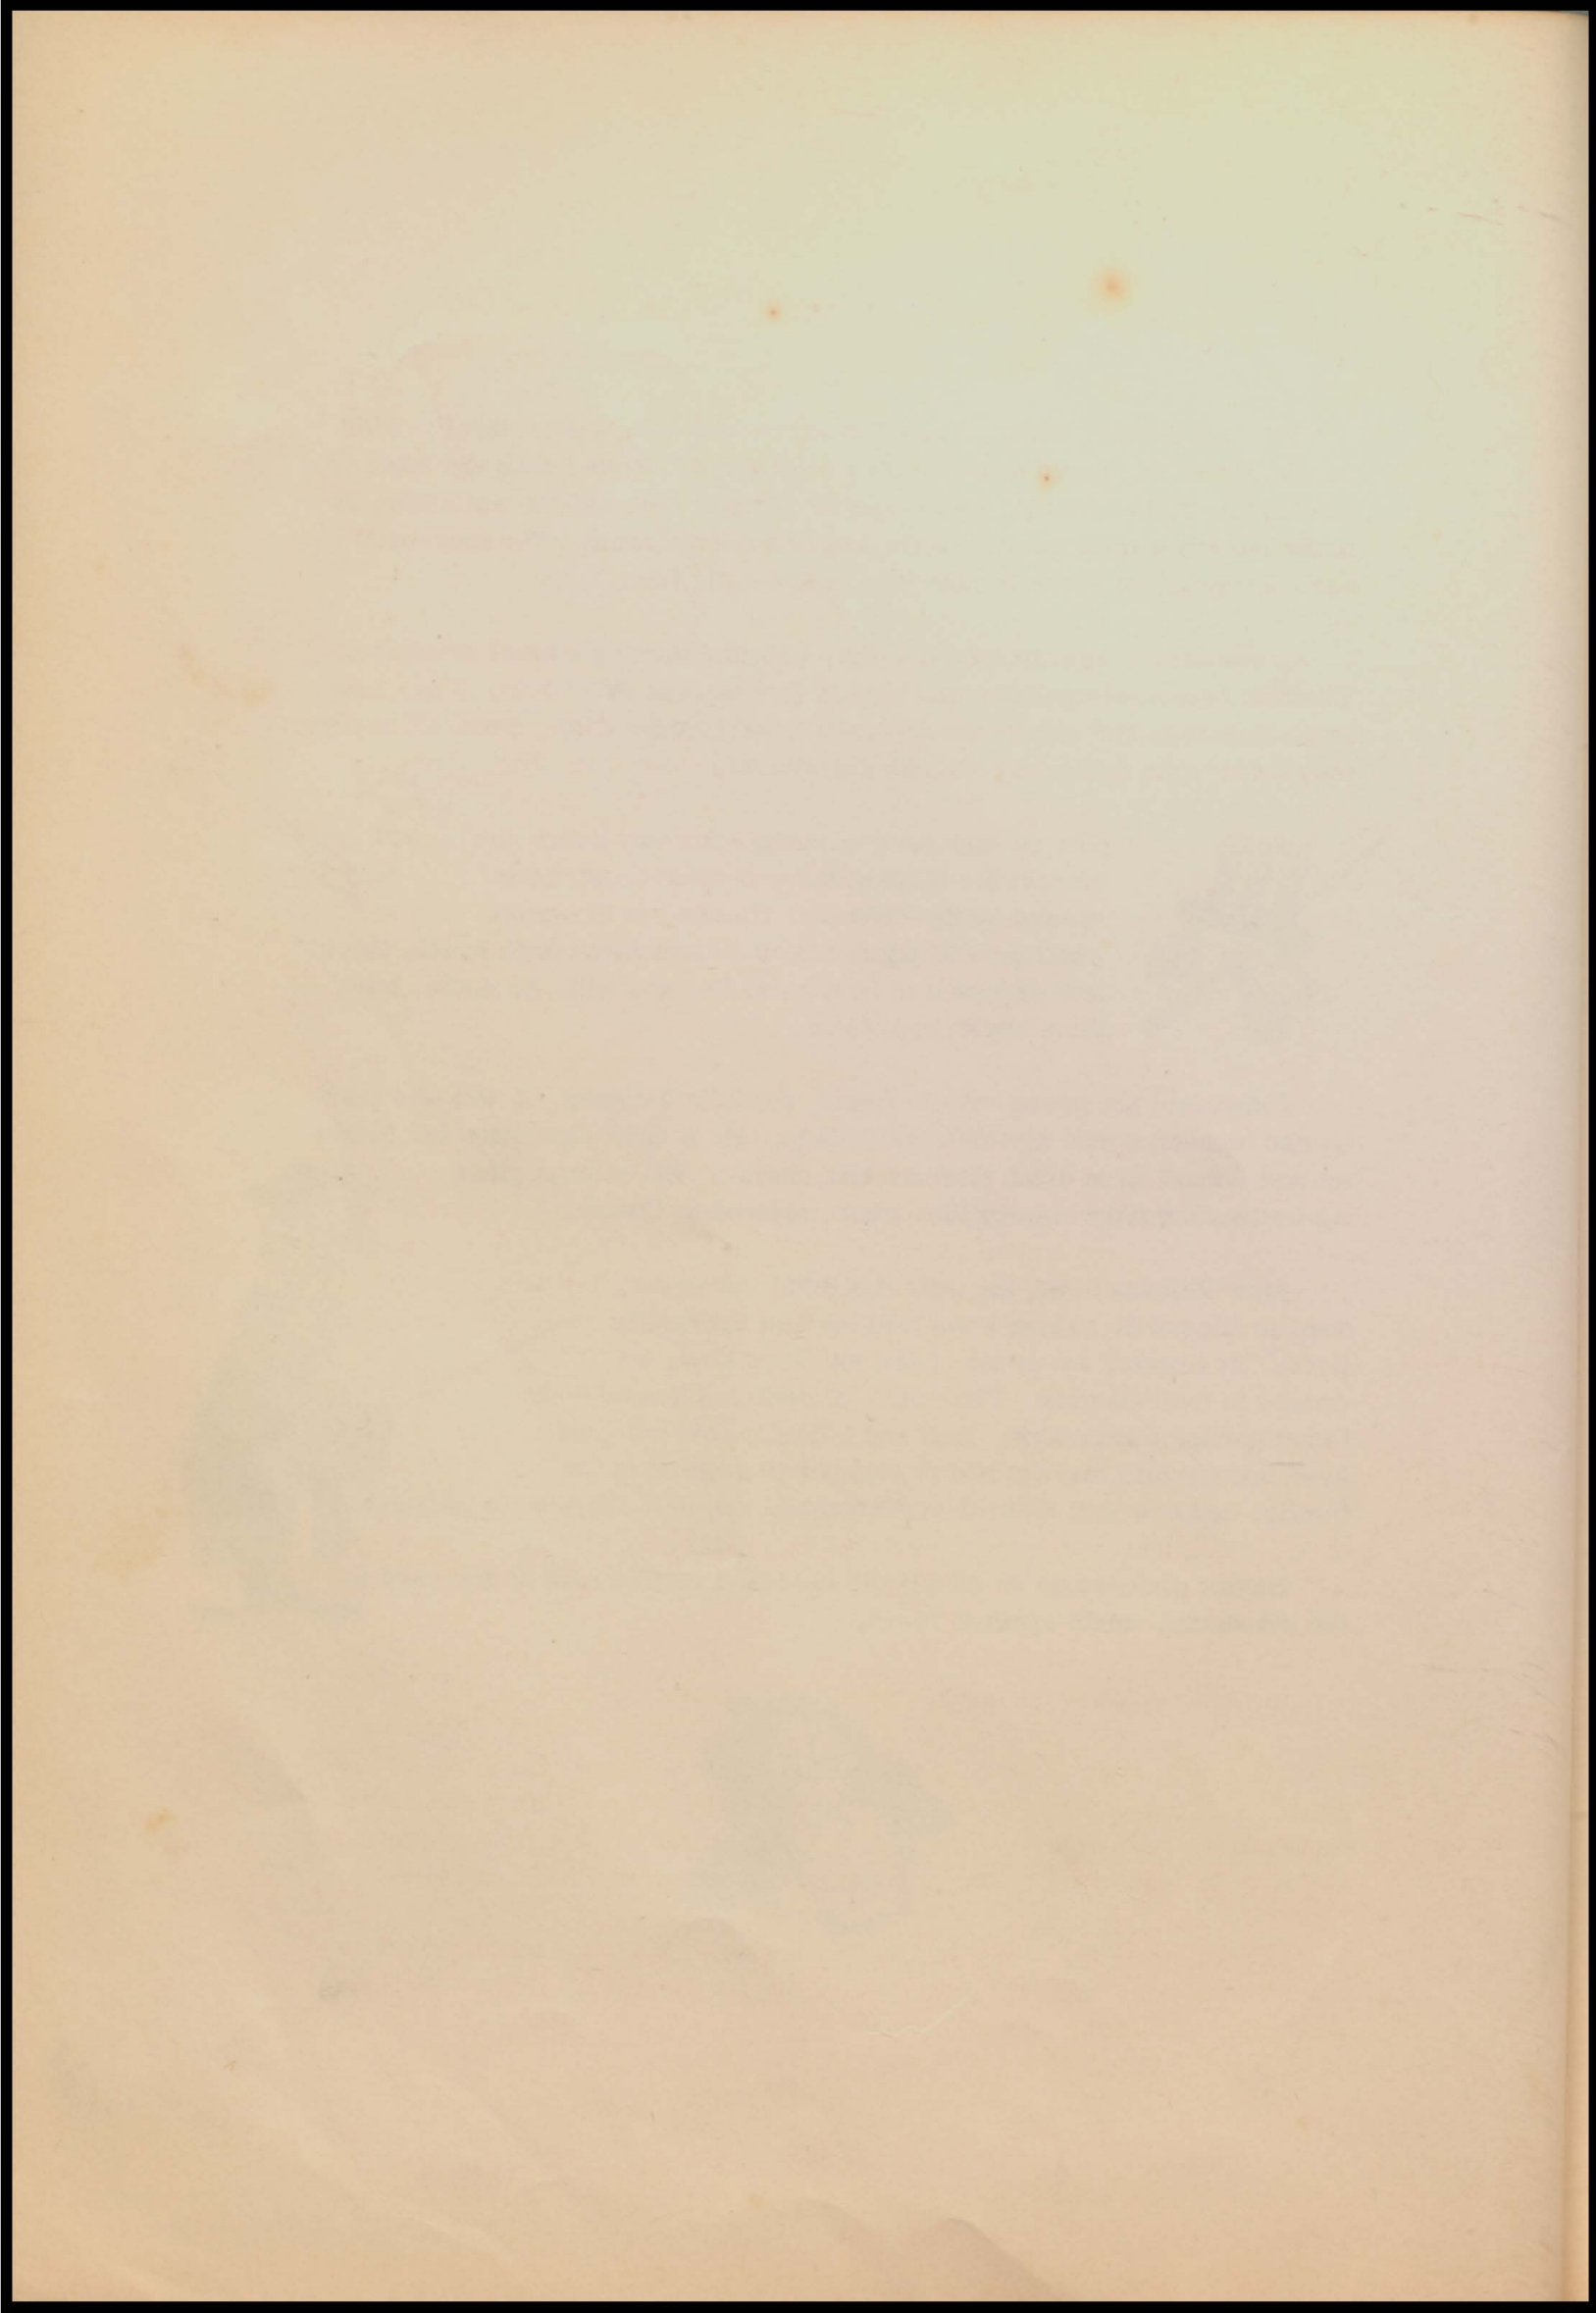

I regretted not seeing my old friend, Franklin Treumer. I was told that he had founded a new Agricultural College. He is chief supervisor and instructor and doesn't have much time for idle chatter. His college offers Ag instructions only--no English, math, science or history.

Joan Whiddon being the only classmate left to see, I went to Clemville, where I was told she and her family lived. As I neared her house, I saw ten little boys, all dressed in football suits. They were all gathered around their father getting instructions. Joan and I hastily said our good-byes, for she said that she hadn't counted on sickness in the family, and now that their eleventh son had measles, she was the only sub.

Having checked up on all my old friends, I hurried back to my cave in the mountains, never again to leave.

Last Will And Testament

Ladies and gentlemen, Board of Education, teachers and friends:

On behalf of my client, The Class of 1951, of Tidehaven High School, of the district of Tidehaven, state of Texas, United States of America, I have called you together upon this solemn and serious occasion, to listen to the last will and testament and to receive from her dying hand the few gifts she has to bestow, in her last moments, cutting so rapidly loose from school life, and finding so many things of such gigantic proportion to be attended to before the end should come upon her; realizing at the same time that she no longer has time to spend in the cultivation of her own virtues, she did, collectively and individually, deem it best to distribute these virtues with her own hands to those friends to whose needs they seem to be fitting. She has tried to be just as generous and impartial, and distribute wisely unto those who will make the best use of such gifts as she has in her power to bestow. These are her last definitely arrived decisions through very deliberate considerations. She gives you possession, praying that you will accept them as a sacred trust from one who has gone before.

Listen, then, one and all, while I read the document as duly drawn up and sworn to:

We, the class of 1951, in fourteen individual and distinct parts, being about to pass out of this sphere of education, in full possession of a crammed mind, well-trained memory and almost superhuman understanding, do make and publish this, our last will and testament, hereby revoking and making void all former wills or promises by us at any time heretofore made or perhaps carelessly spoken.

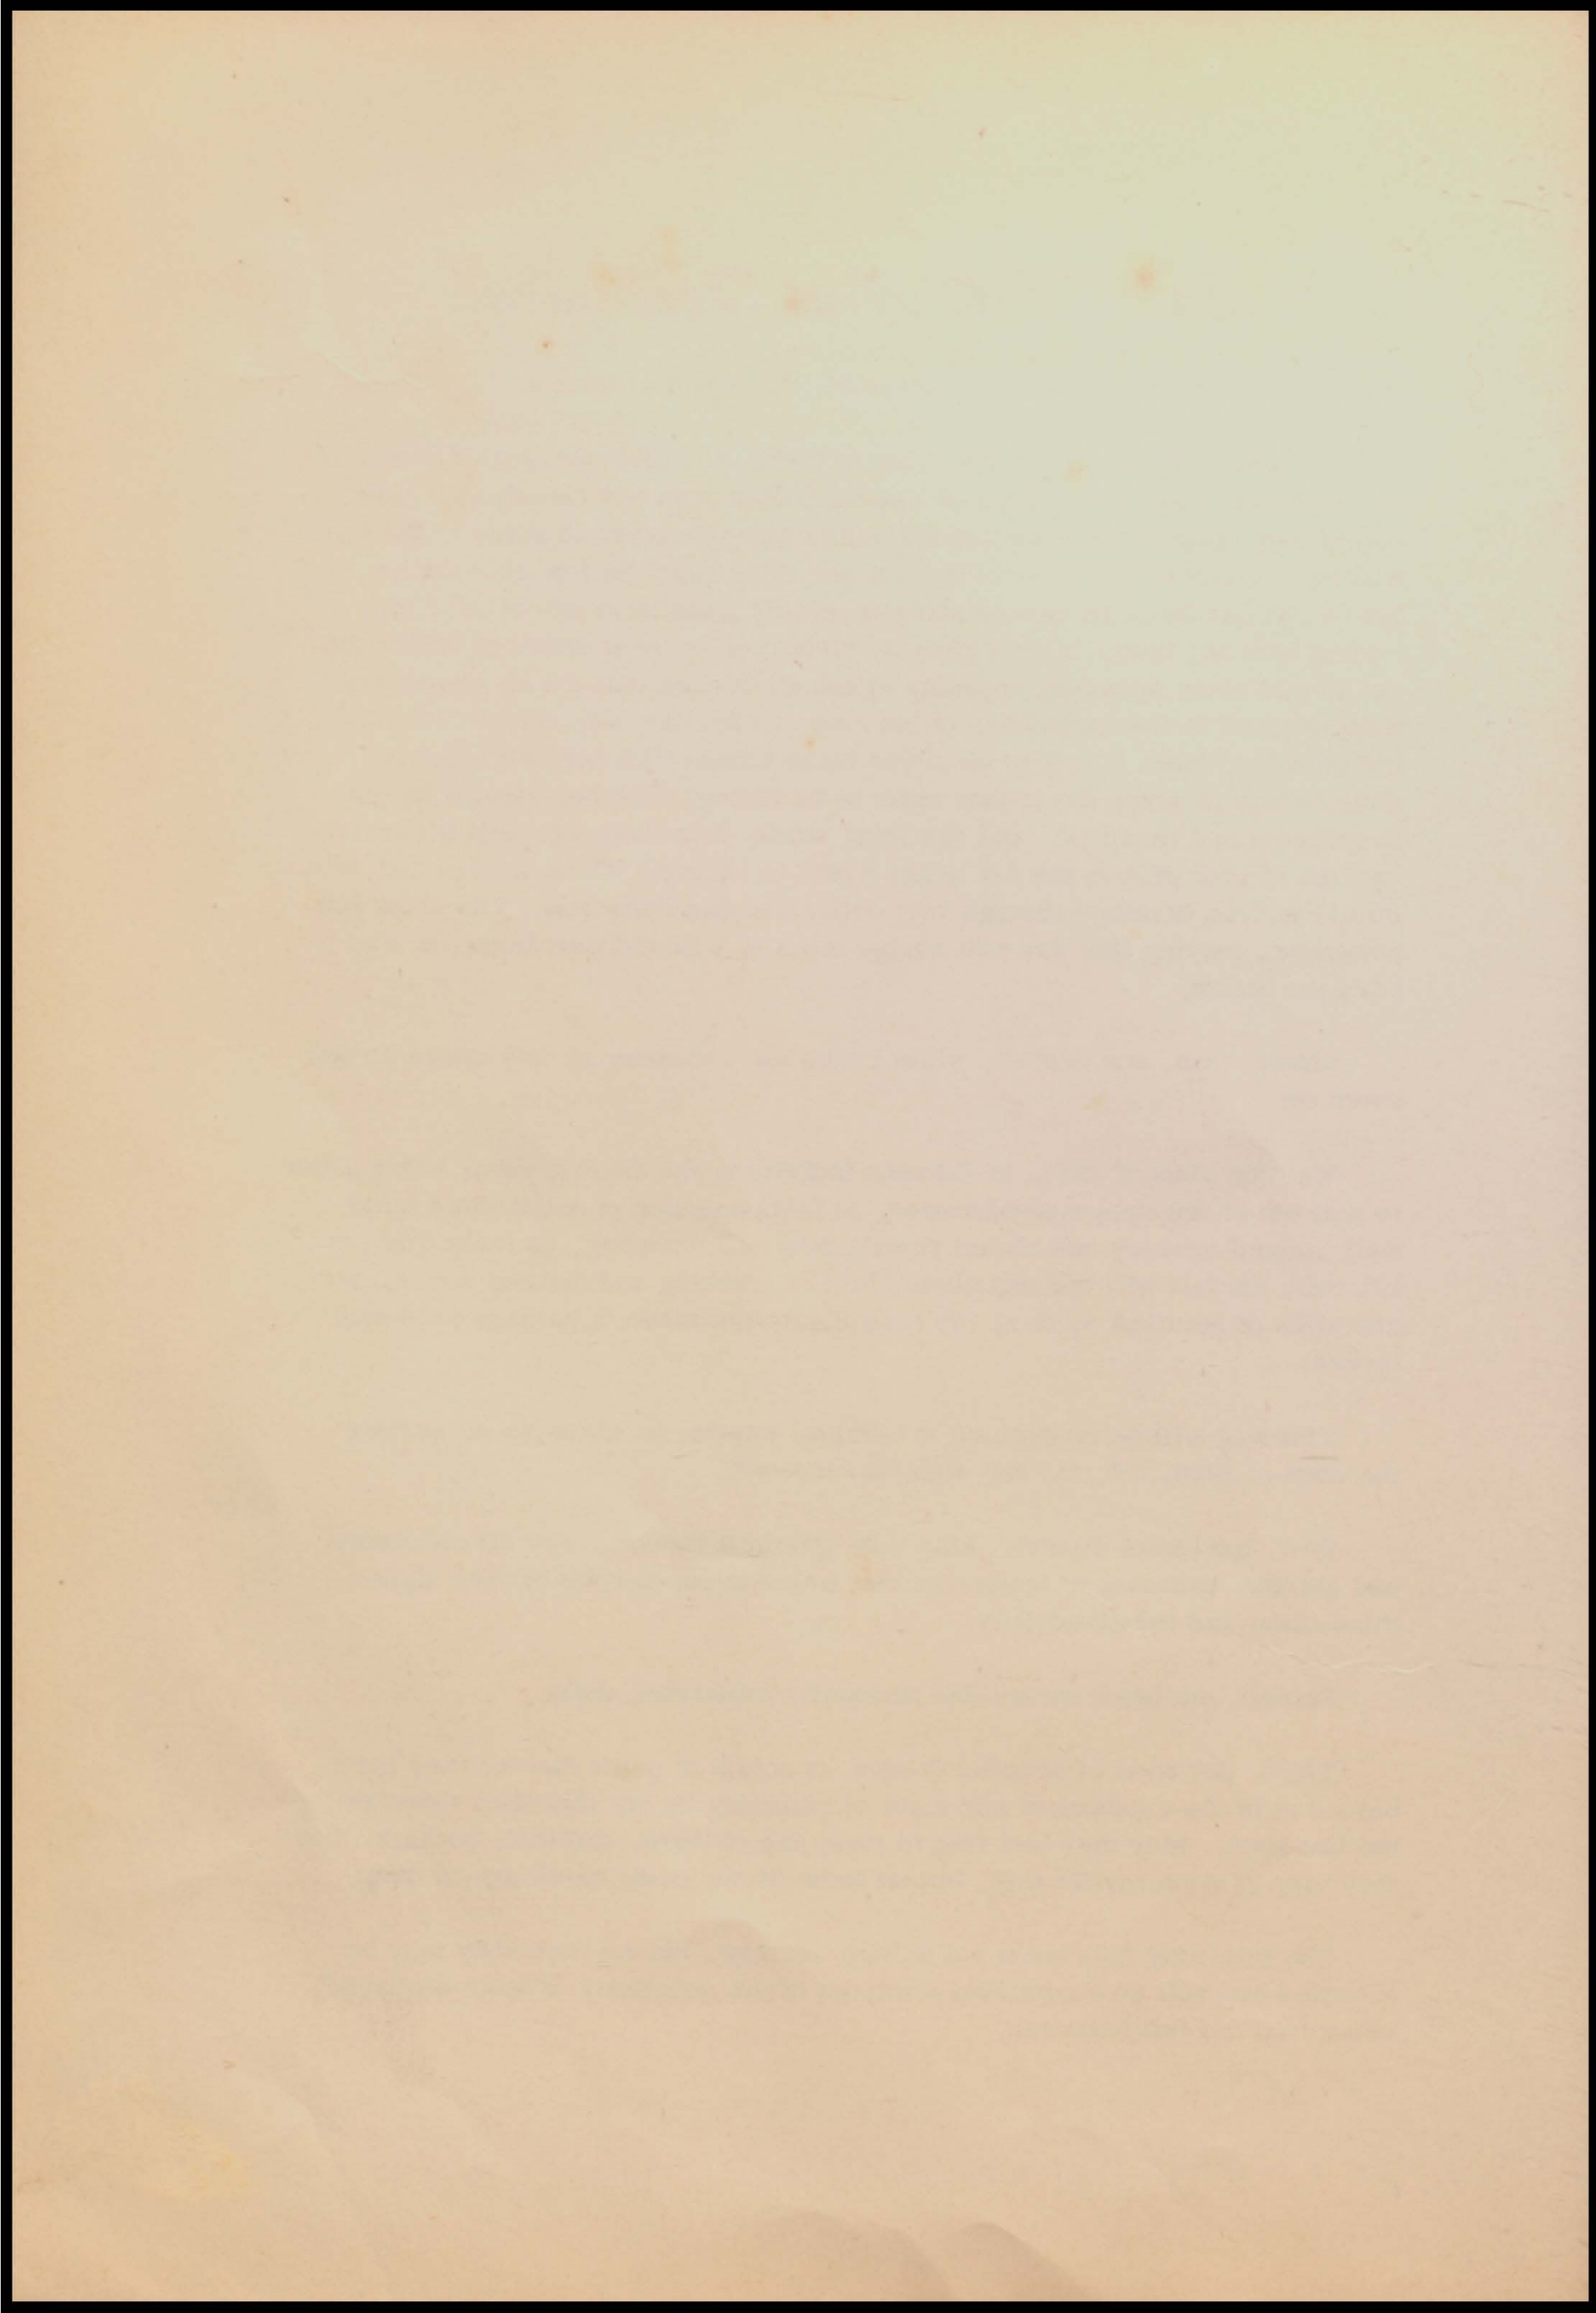

This will will be recognized as entailed estates, to which we do declare the class of 1952, the real and rightful successor.

First, our senior dignity. May they uphold it forever, with all seriousness and gravity, endeavor to realize its vast importance, in spite of their light-mindedness and irresponsibility.

Second, our hand-carved and personally mistreated desks.

Third, any stubs of pencils, erasers, or scraps of paper that we may leave behind us in the excitement and haste of gathering up our cherished treasures for the last time. May they feel free to make use of them, and feel, perhaps, that they may in some mystic way, impart some of our great knowledge to them.

The following may seem but trifling bequests, but we hope they may be accepted and will be a continual reminder of the generosity of heart displayed in our free and full bestowal:

To Walter "Hoss" Hale, A. V. Bosak's speechmaking ability.

To Leo Valigura, Fred Day's gift of gab.

To Betty Brown, Bernice Gaas wills her volleyball and basketball talents.

To Aline Williams, Lucille Gonzales leaves her memory as a shining example of what a high school senior should be.

To Gail Crocker, Barbara Hebert leaves her twirling ability.

To Mabel and Myrtle DeReese, Ann Hickl's determination to get out of school.

To Simeon Bauer, Dorothy Hickl's love of "painting the town" and the "bigger things in life."

To James Elmer "Budger" Cornett, Janette Lawhon most generously bequeaths all her money-making schemes and "get-rich-quick" ideas.

To Floyd Wright, Archie Massoletti leaves his night life.

To J. D. Tomasek, Roy Smith wills his great acting ability and his immunity to stage fright.

To Kay McShan, Louise Svetlik most sincerely bequeaths her scholastic capabilities.

To Howard Hurta, Franklin Treumer's privilege of flirting with all of the Tidehaven girls.

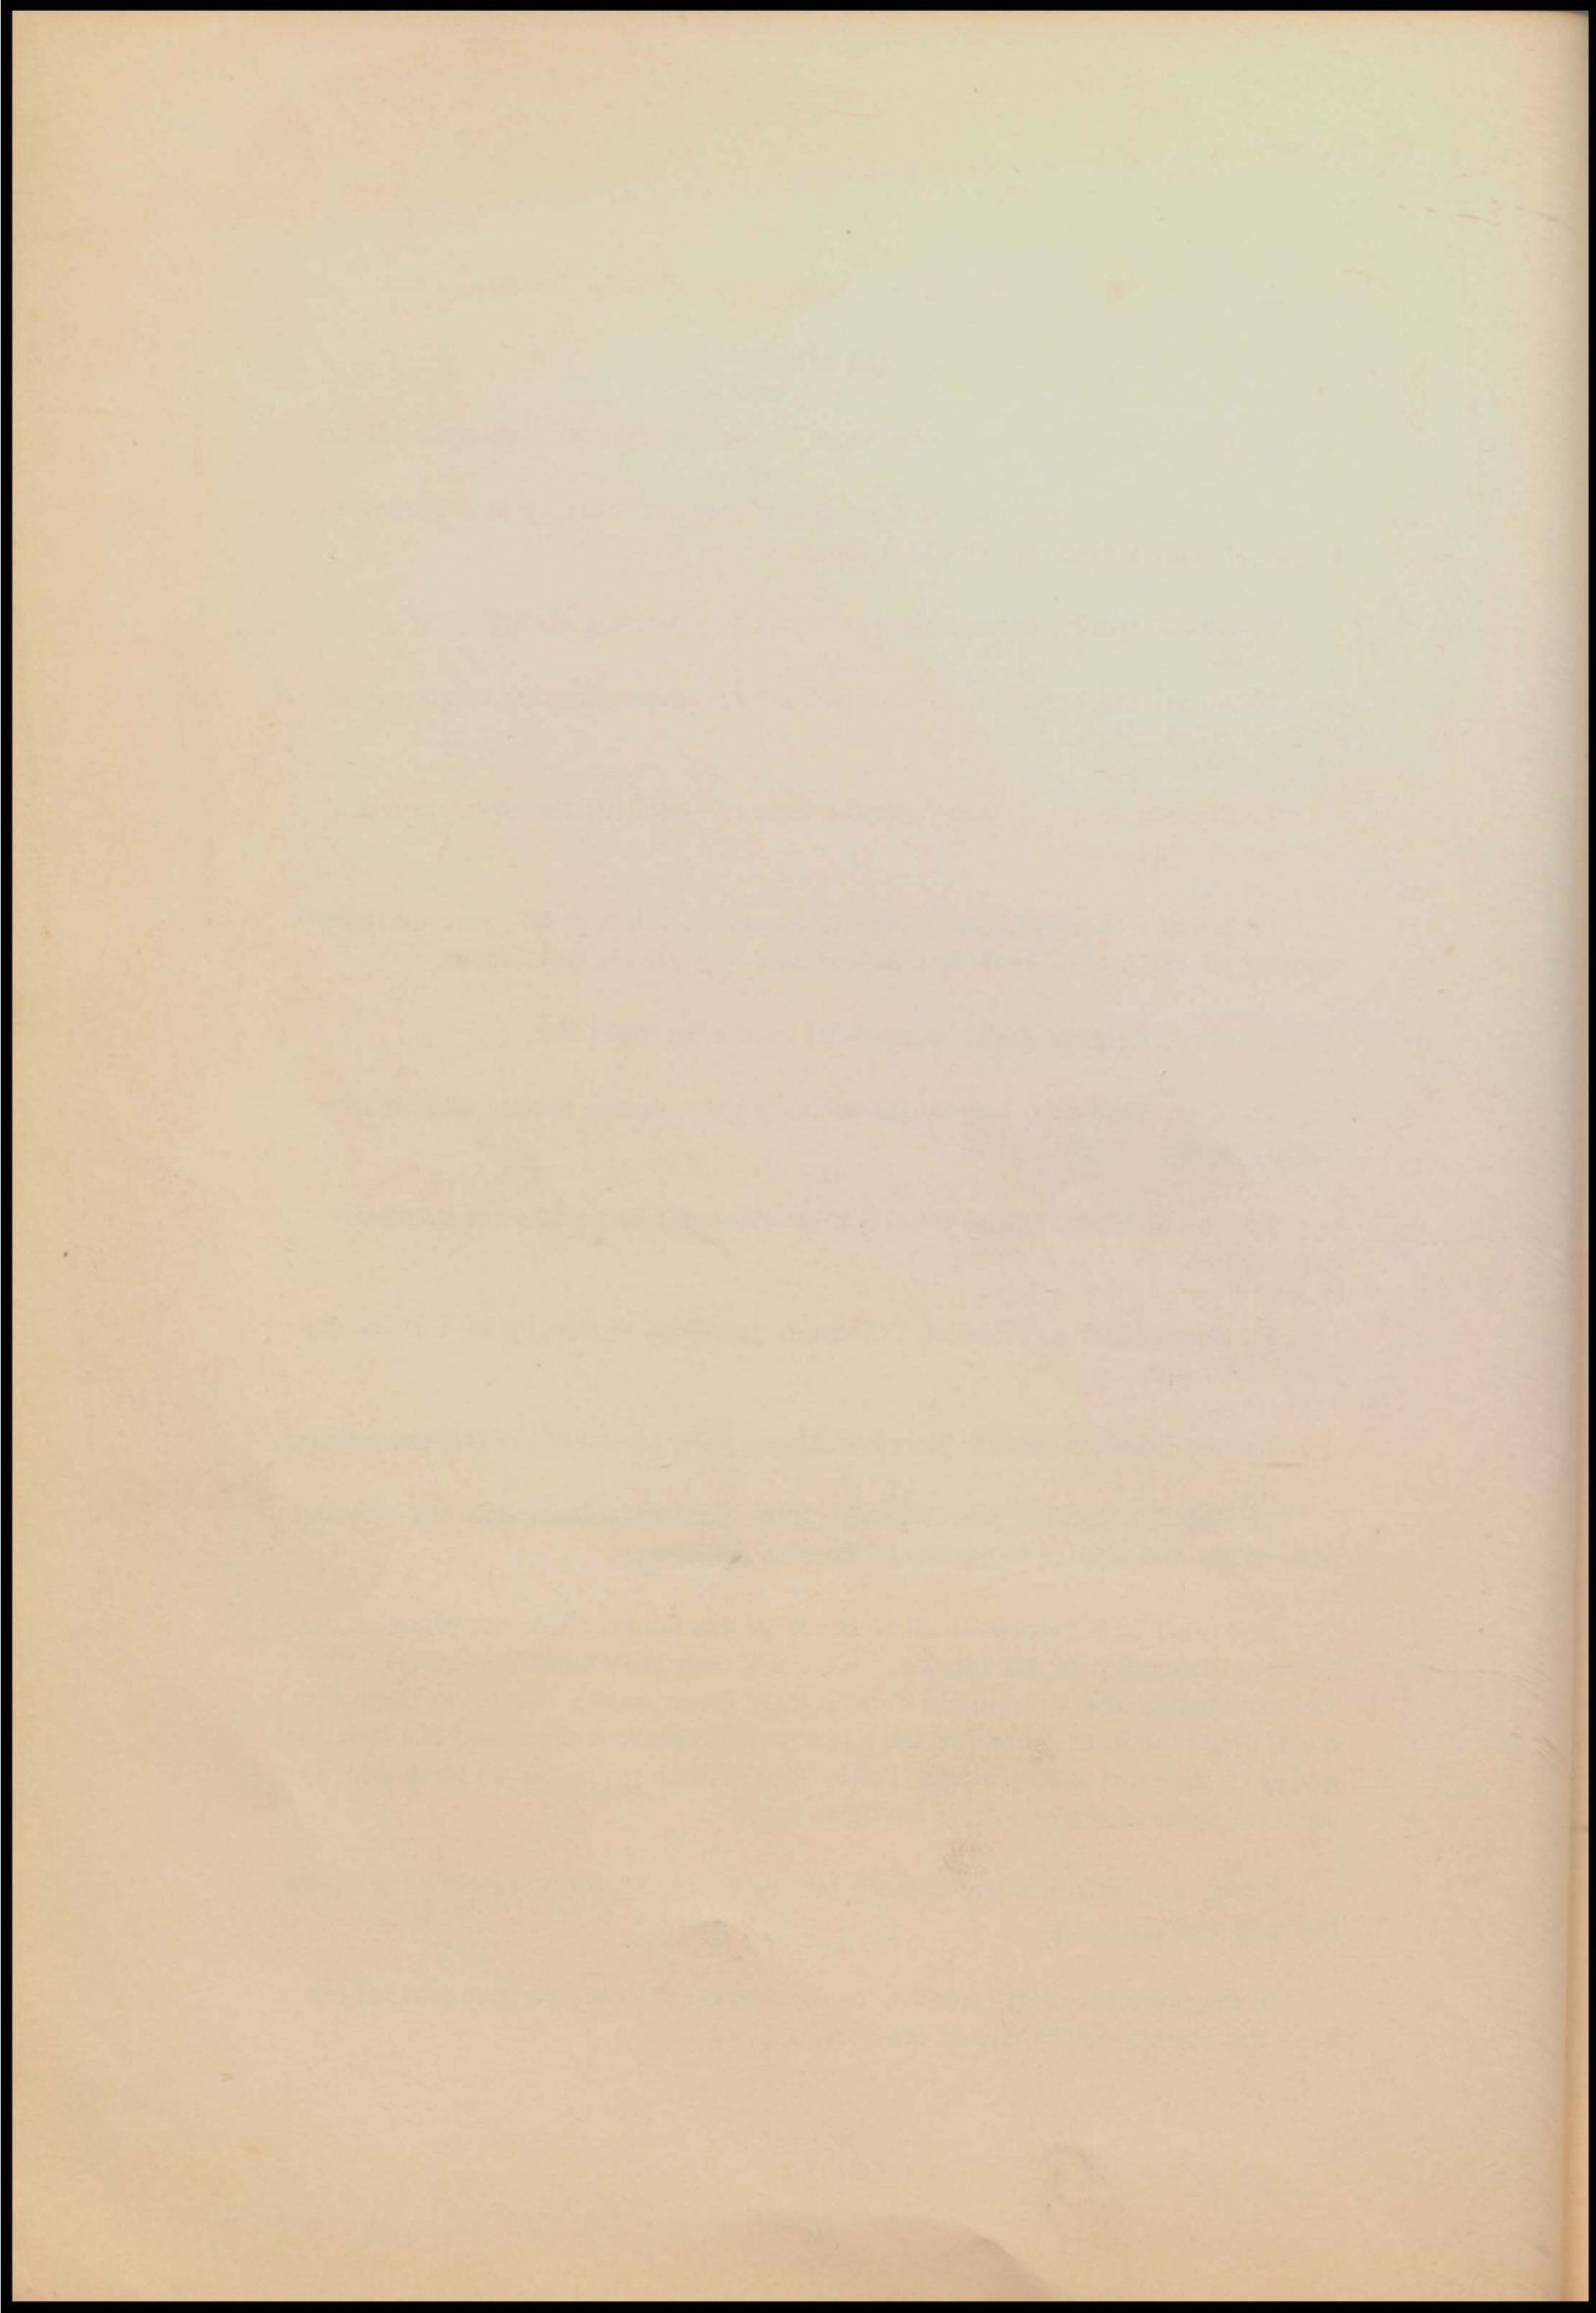

To Leo Orsak, Kenneth "Boodles" Upton wills his perfectly trained coiffure.

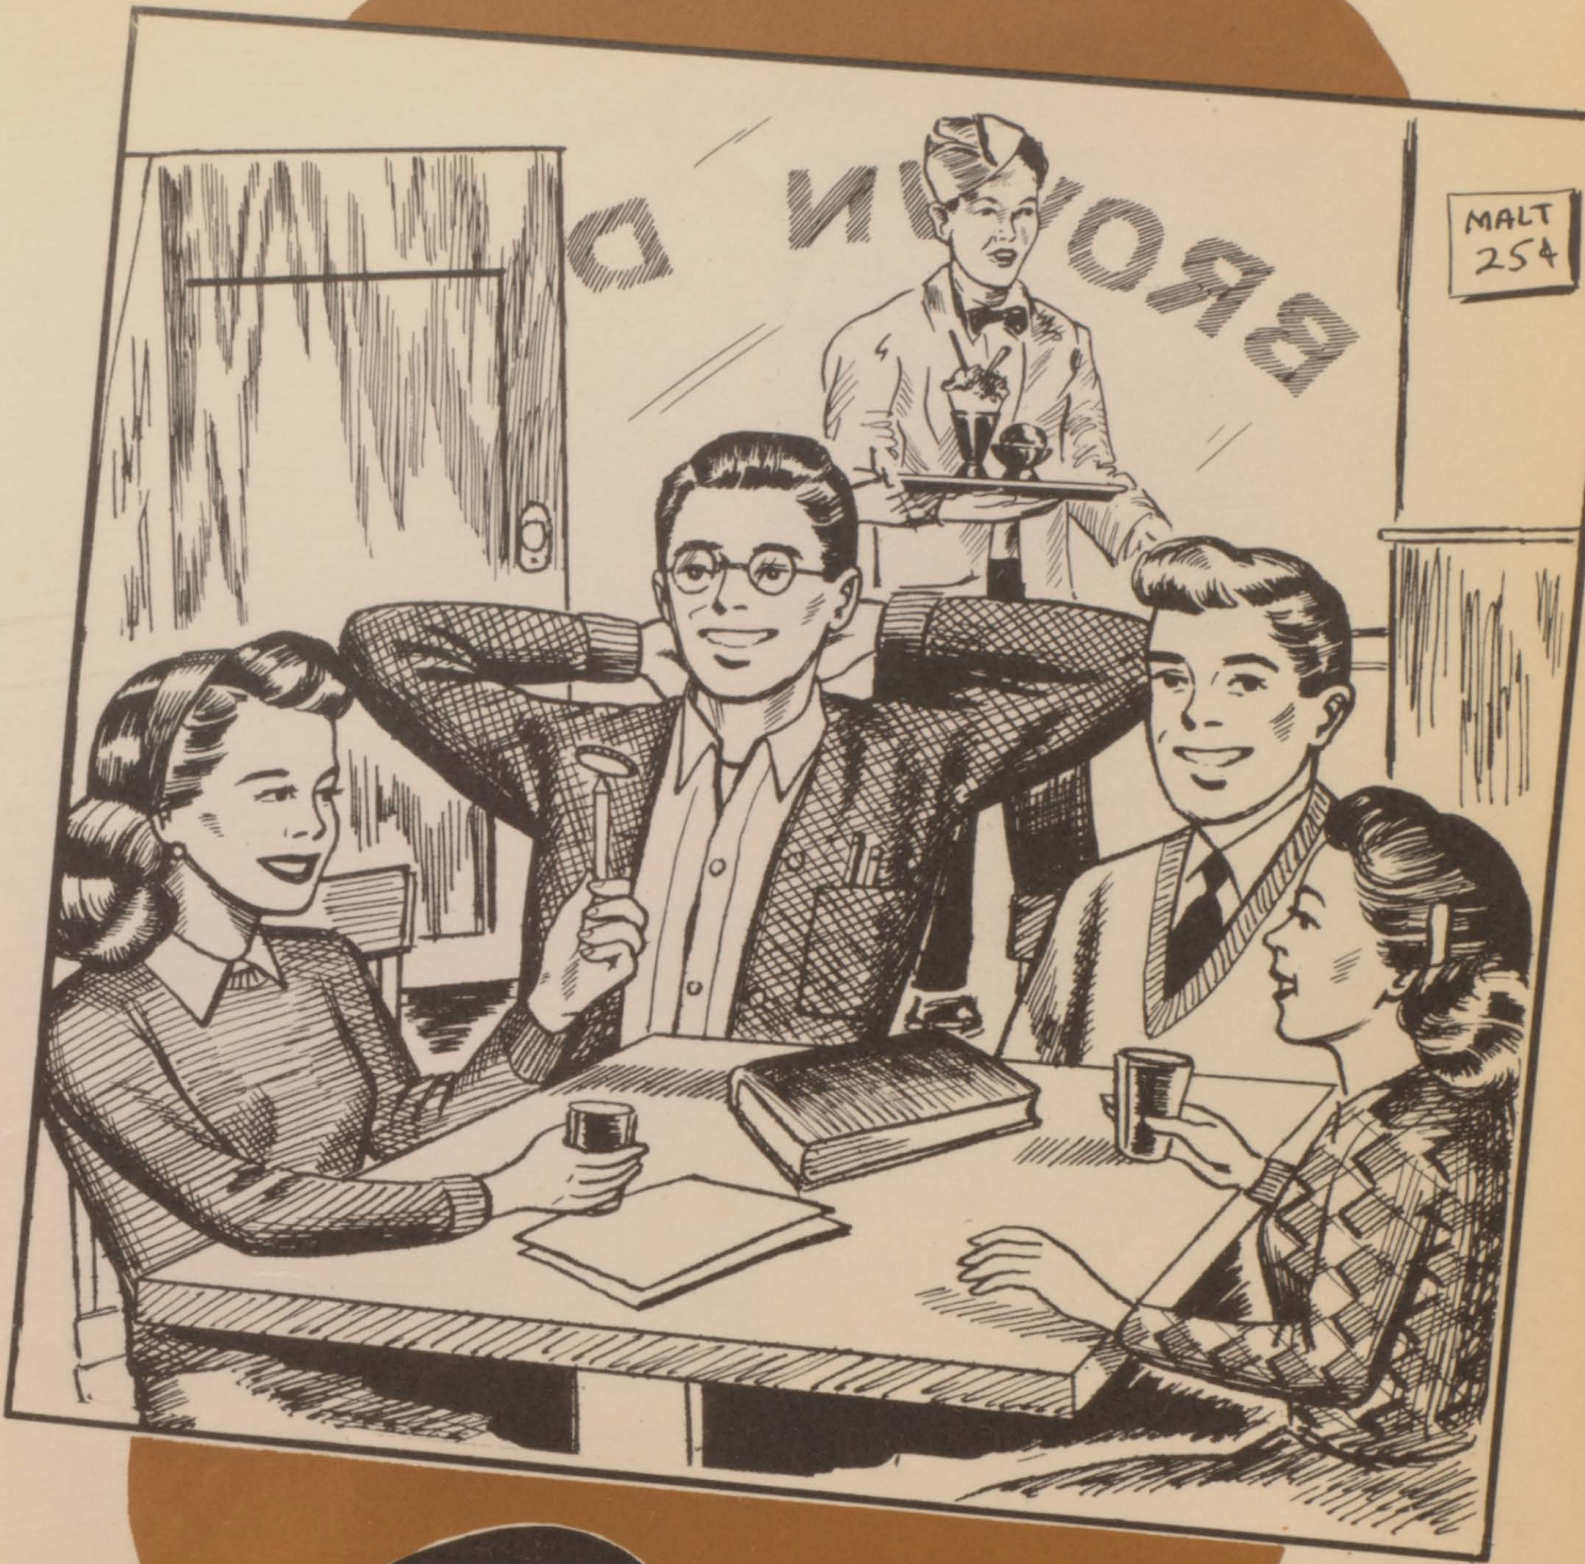

To Helen Wiltshire, Joan Whiddon most graciously bequeaths her soothing personality and ability to please all faculty members.

And now, it is hardest of all to leave to this Senior Class our place in the hearts and thoughts of our faculty. We know they are unworthy of these gifts and we treasure them too much to be lightly given away. We leave them the small place we have gained in the heart of our Superintendent and our Principal and each member of the faculty. May they cherish them, as we have and appreciate them as profoundly as we have done.

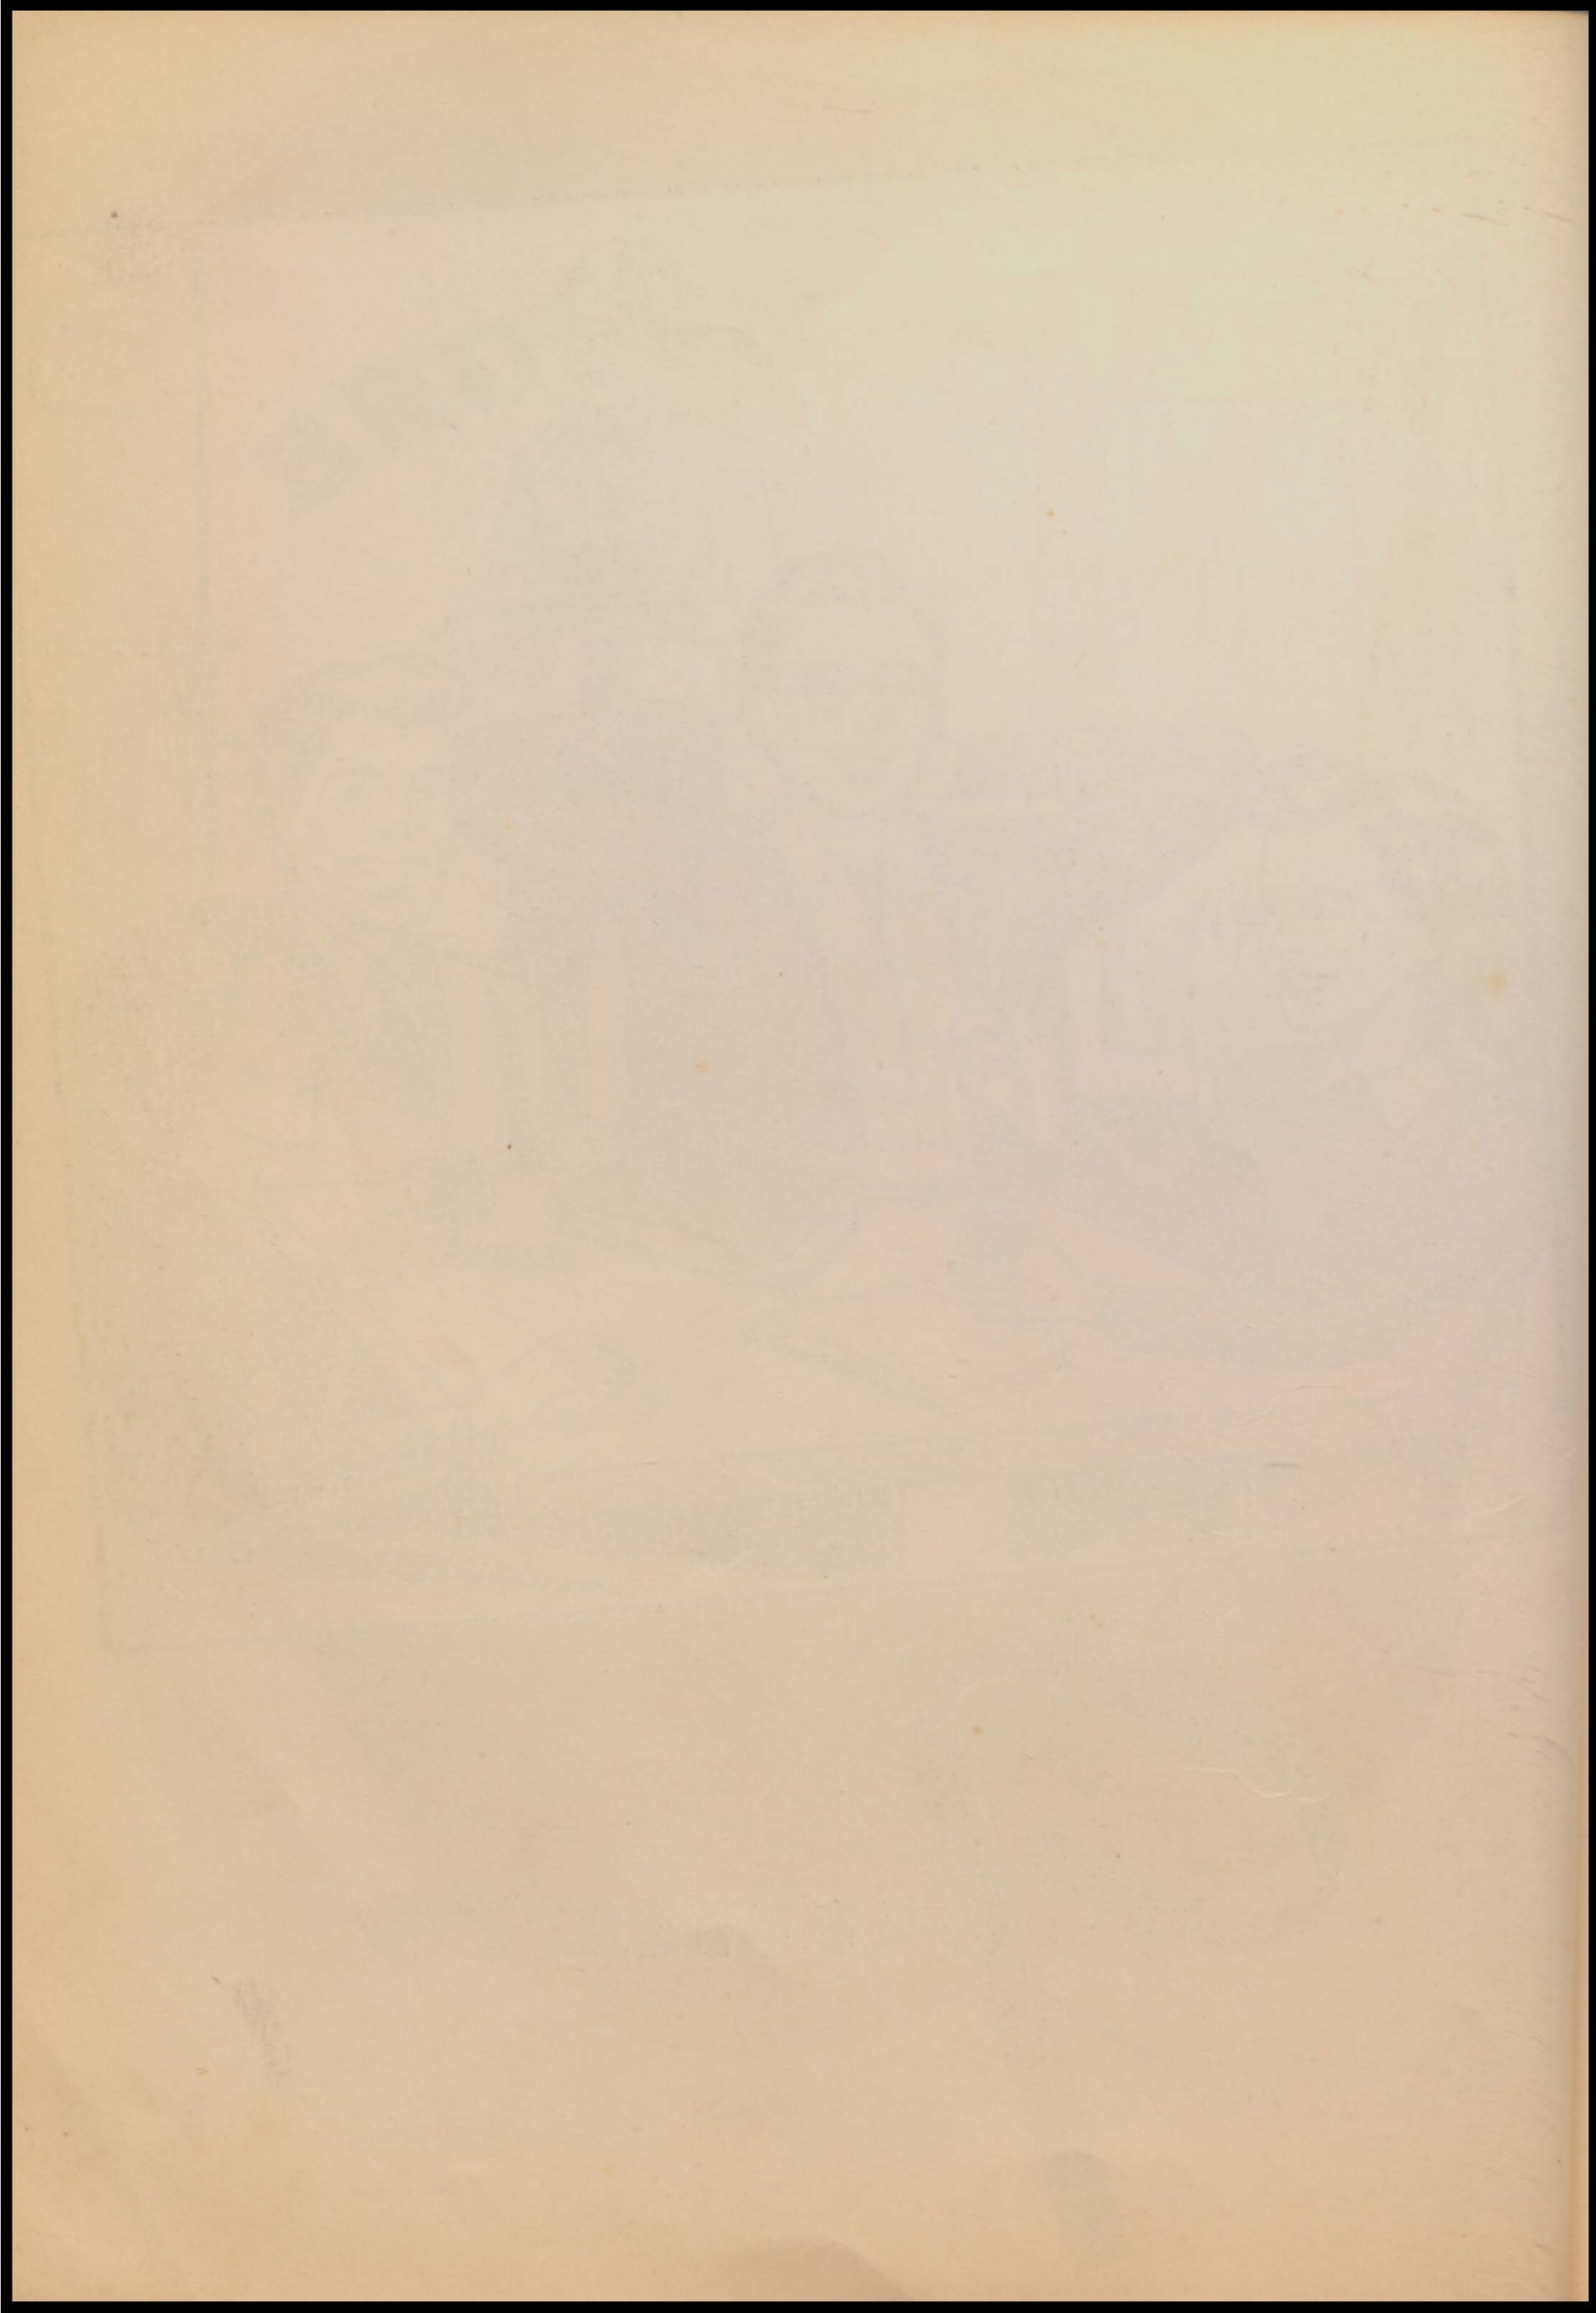

Fifth, we constitute and appoint Mr. R. E. Black sole executor of this, our last will and testament.

In the presence of all present, in the witness thereof; we hereunto set our hand this twenty-fourth day of May, A. D. , 1951.

Dear Mr. Nelson:

I know you are wondering who is writing from Hawaii, but then, I suppose you get a number of letters from past students at Tidehaven High who are in far-away places.

Have you seen any of the 1952 seniors this summer? Speaking of classes, that is one!!!

Remember when we planned our 'big day' at the beach? We were going to have ready-fried chicken and all the trimmings. Our helpful Aline Williams advised us that, to make the picnic more enjoyable, we should fry the chicken at the beach. It sounded good to us, so we planned to borrow Aline's little one-burner gas stove. The 'big' day arrived. We all set out for the beach and landed safe and sound. We began lunch and, as you can guess, we forget the stove! But, even cold weiners taste pretty good when you're hungry.

Have you seen anything of the trio (Kay, Budger and Sim)? They really were popular at the parties, the only trouble was there was never three of them together.

Do you know why Mr. Yates' star players never did star? I can't be sure, but it might have been because Leo Valigura and Howard Hurta could not keep their mind on the game because of the pretty shorts that the girls wear.

How are Mabel and Myrtle? They never fussed, they just chased each other with lawn mowers and chamois skins.

How is Betty-One Legged Race-Brown? Remember May day? The minute Betty reached the finish line, she fell, of course, the boys that were there to pick her up COULDN'T have had anything to do with it.

I heard J. D. and Leo were in Florida. Those boys! I wish you could tell me why they always had to double-date. Wonder if they are afraid of the dark, or could it possibly have been the two girls they went with???

I'll never forget the time Mr. Taska was lecturing on "What People and Food are Worth." He said that in China a person was worth about a dozen American eggs and our bright girl, Helen Wiltshire, questioned this statement with, "What good would eggs do you in a war?"

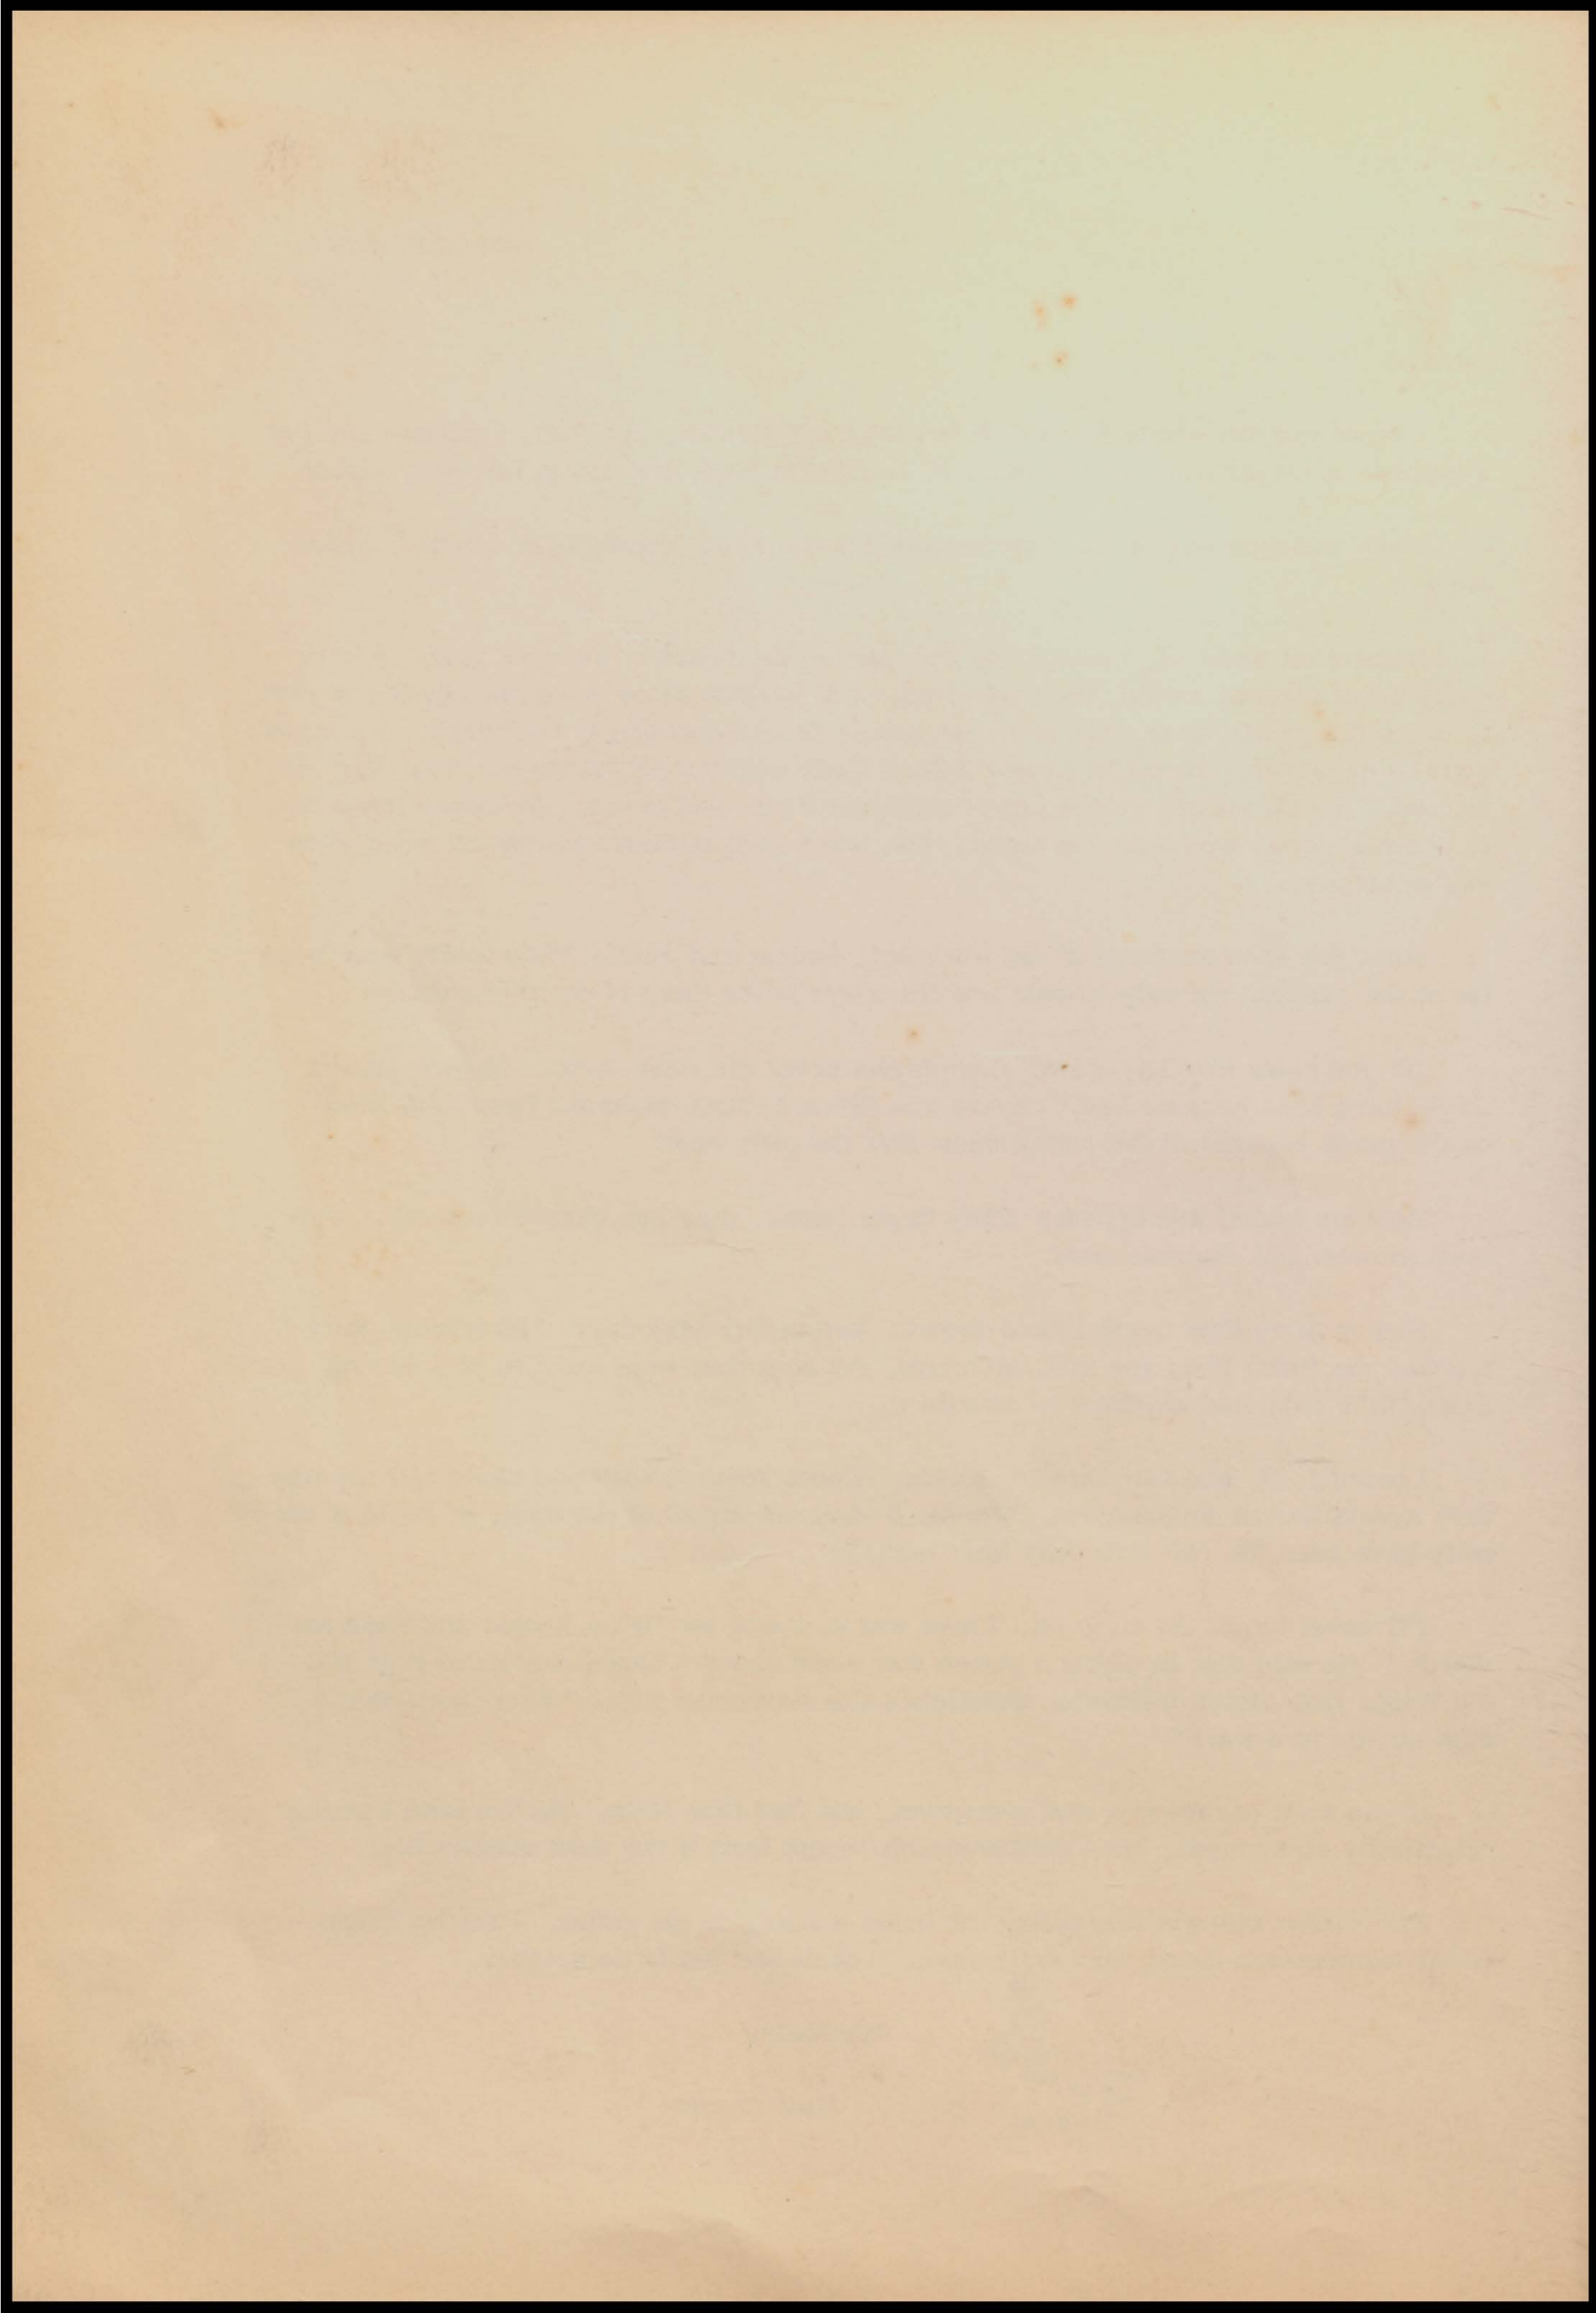

If you want to talk to a real sportsman, just find Hoss Hale. He has been hunting practically all summer, but I understand his moose hunt is the most outstanding.

The native who was serenading me broke a string on his guitar. I am no longer in my reminescent mood, so I shall close. I shall see you in September.

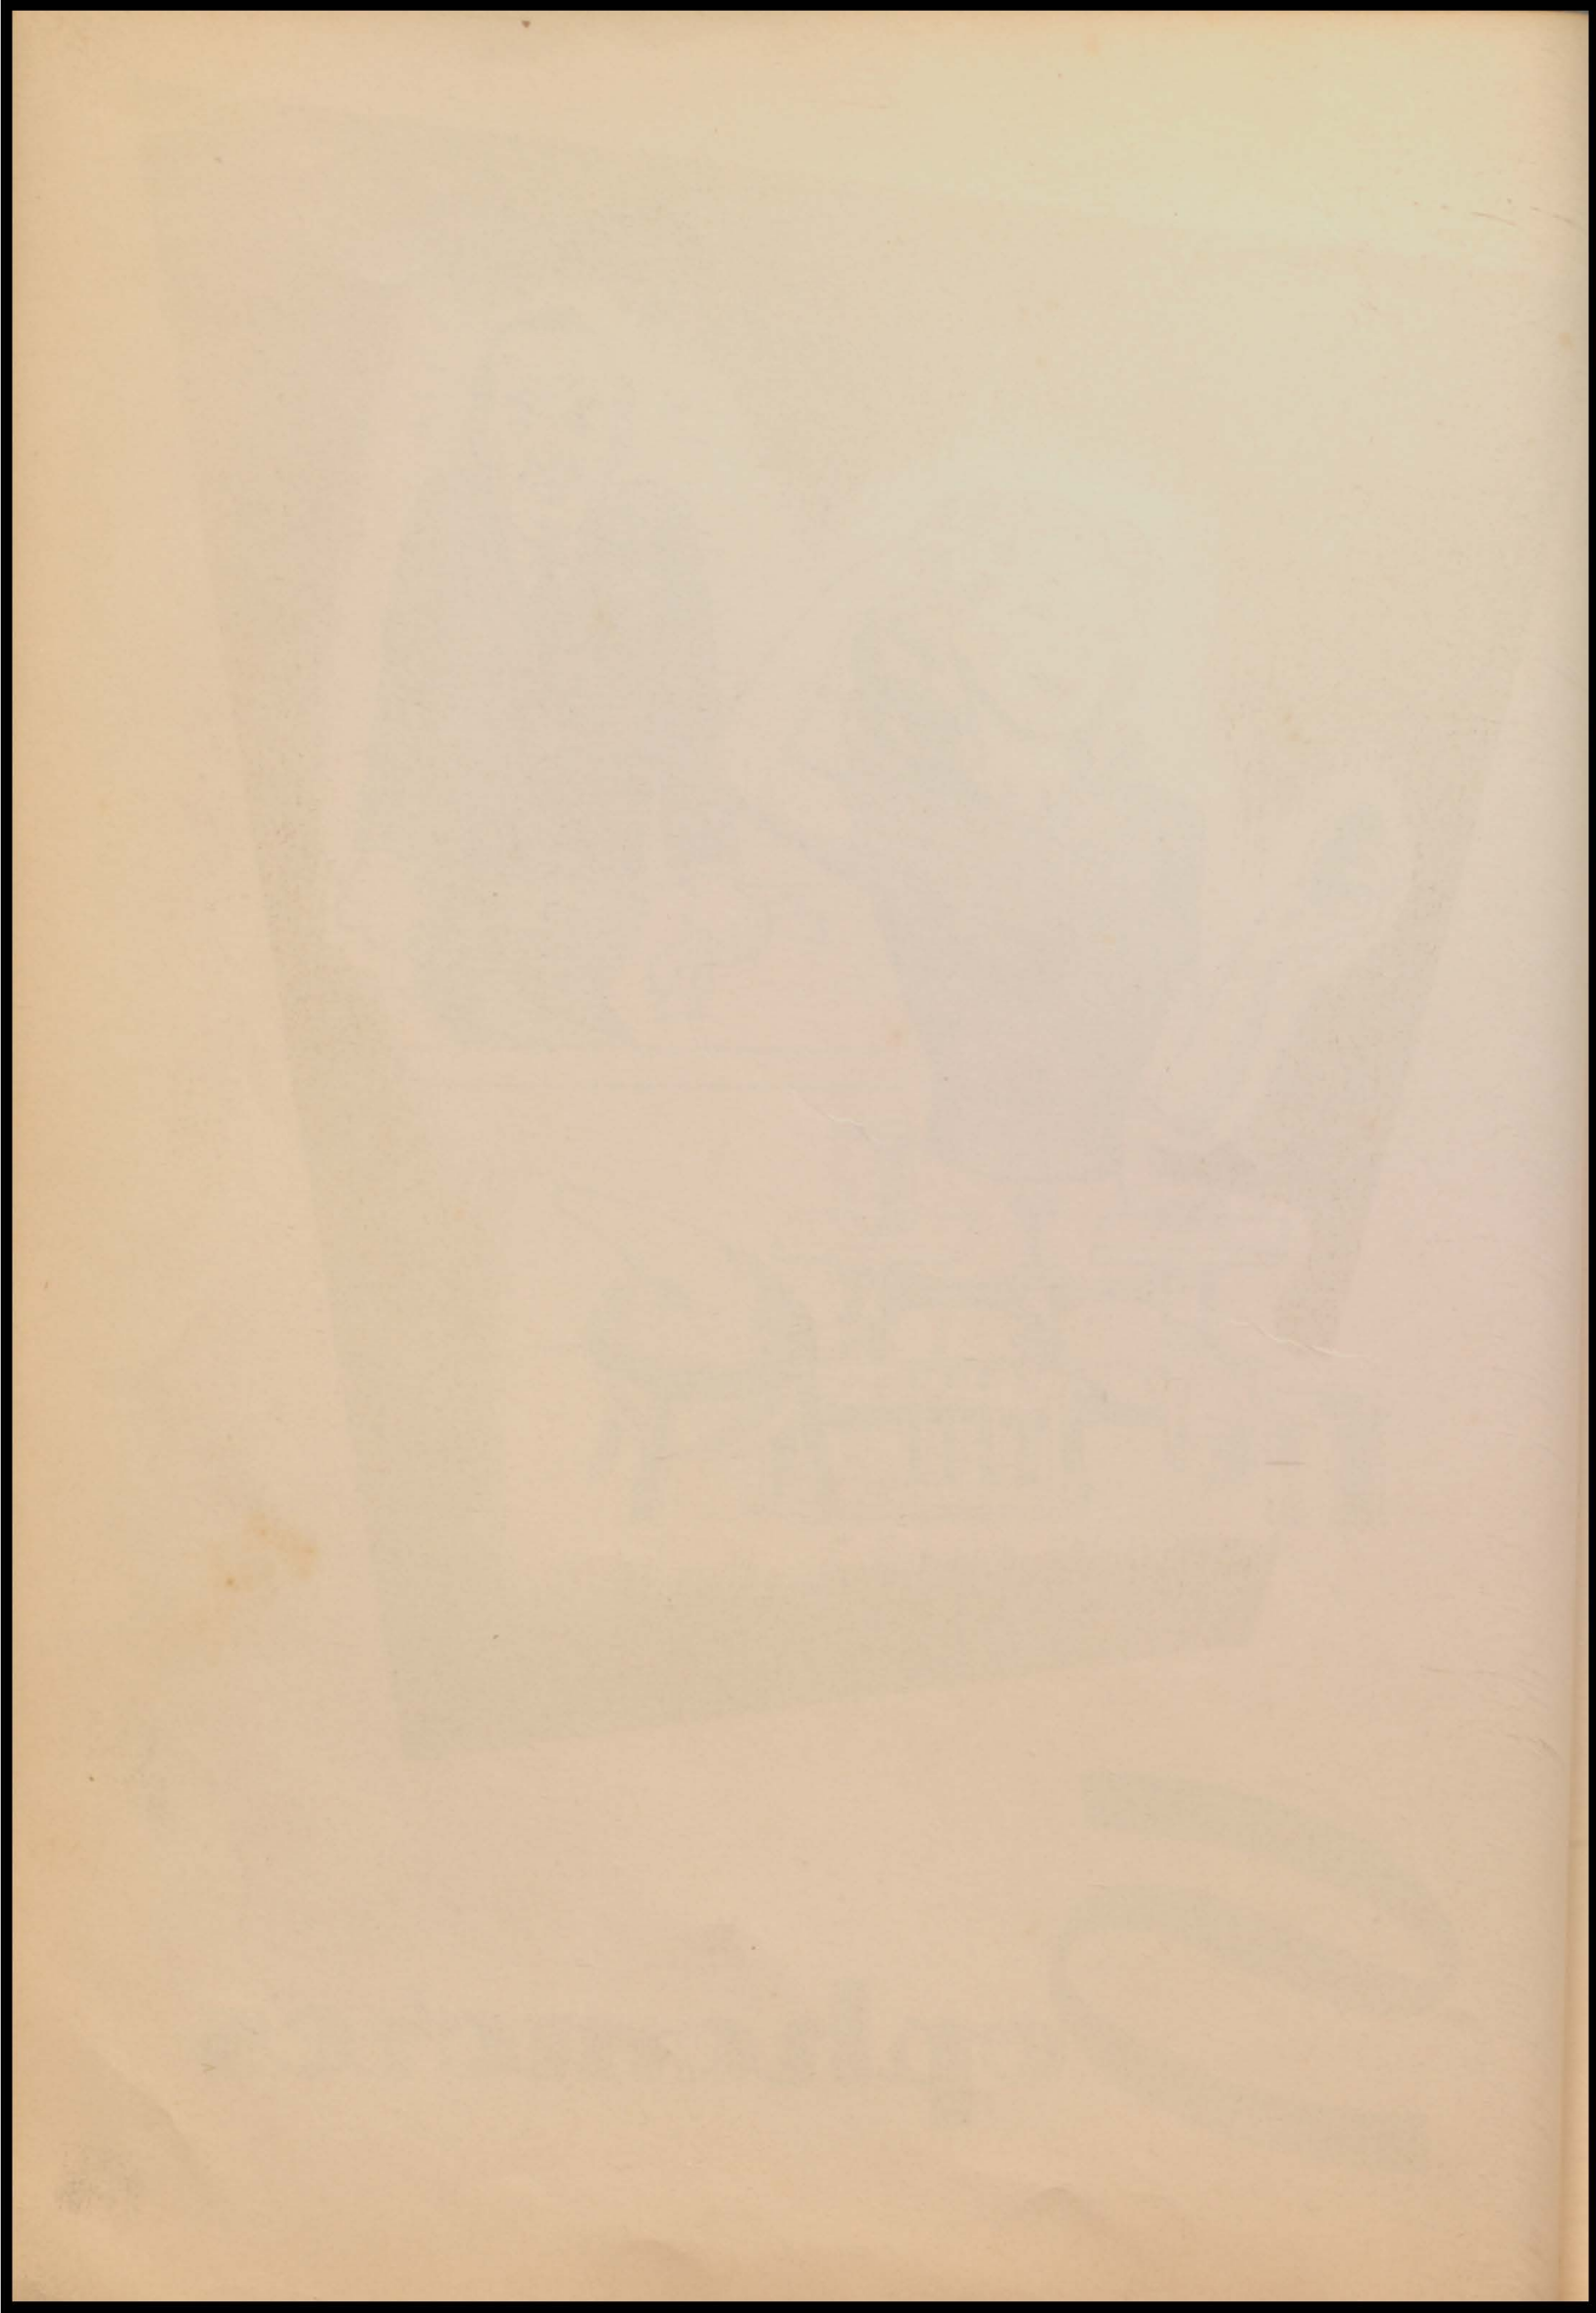

Sincerely,

Gail Crocker

If Bernice Genzer will always love school?
If Mr. Black will always give two tests a day?

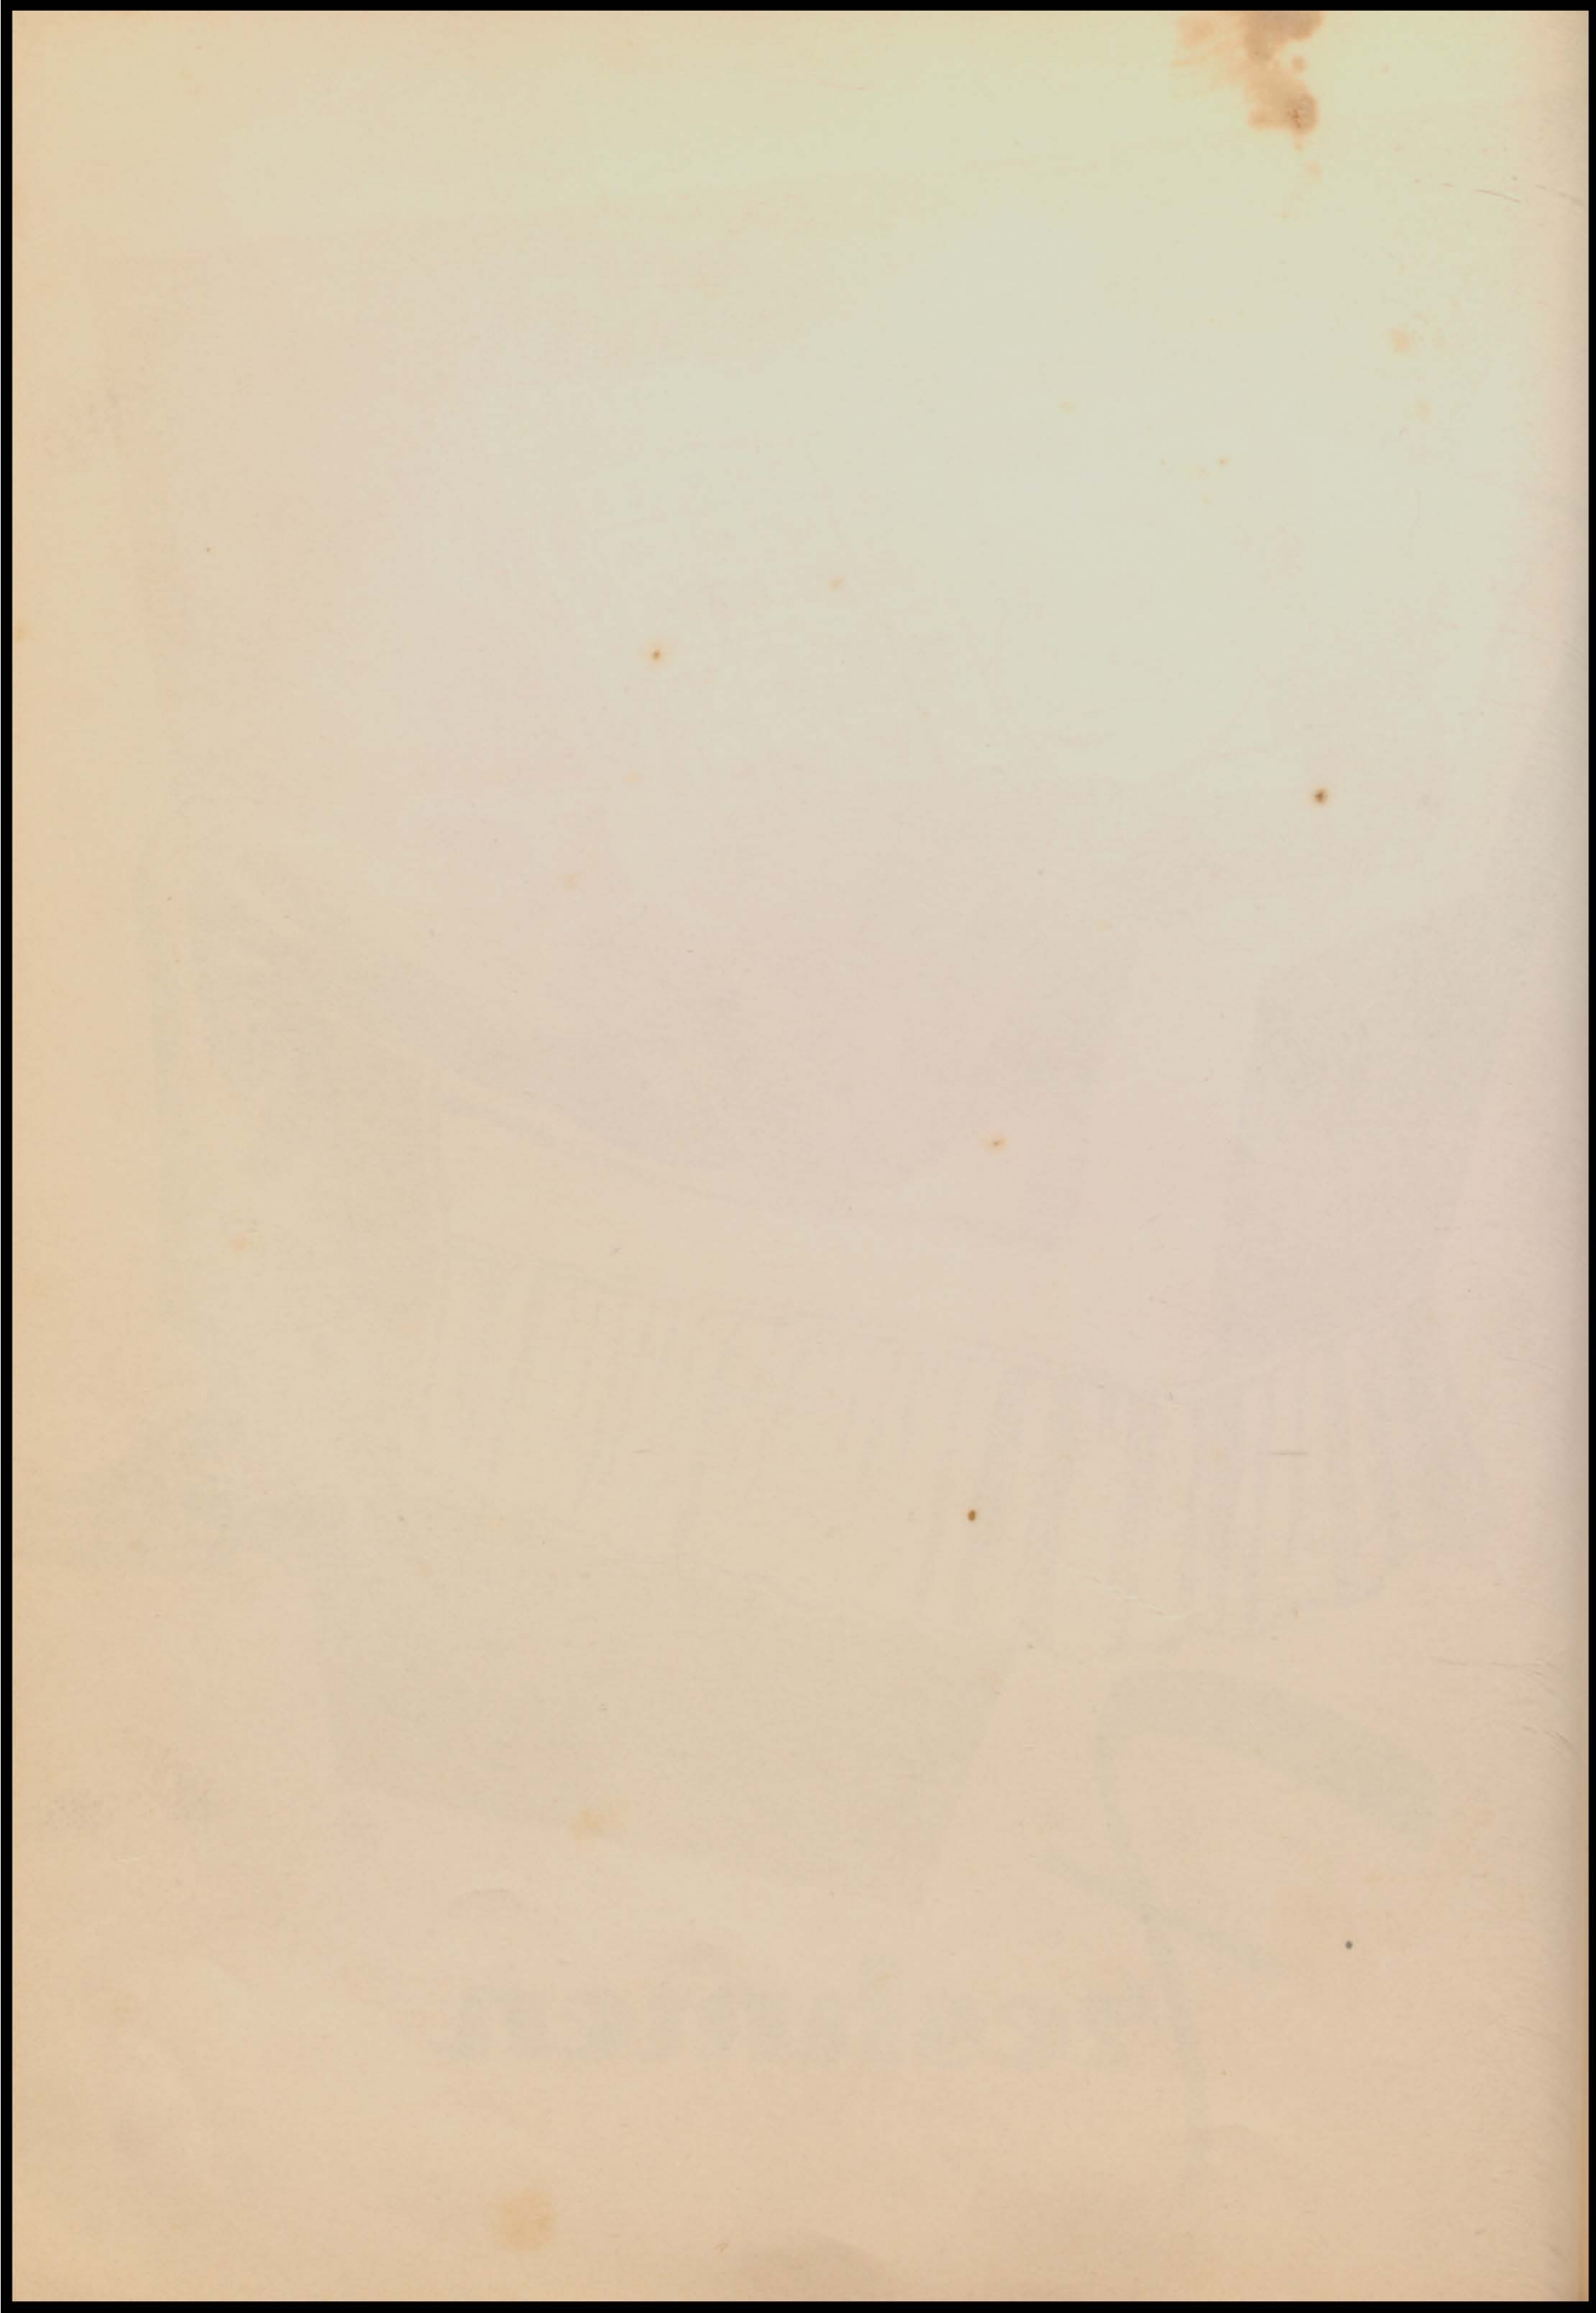

The Sophomore Class regrets very much the loss of Iven Skow and Edwin Kacer.
We hope they will be happy in their new school.

Freshmen Prophecy

One May morning, in the year 2084 A.D., I passed a very peculiar-looking house. I went around to the back and saw Dot Jalufka cleaning the yard and Eugene Saha, her next door neighbor, talking over the fence. I traveled on for several blocks and ran toward the residential section. Suddenly, I heard a scream. I found it was Georgia Hickl Strnadel and Joe, playing volleyball with their ten children. After talking to them, I decided to journey on. I saw something very bright a few blocks down and it turned out to be Dorothy and Otis's baby's diapers. They said they always had florescent diapers for their children as the result of a fad they had while still in dear old THS.

All of a sudden, I heard a radio on full blast and what did I hear? "Please play so and so, for so and so"; whose requests do you think they were? Shirley's and Juanita's. I listened for a while and then crossed over to the Beauty Salon. Joyce Frick was manager. We talked for a few minutes and in walked Lester Smith, Emil Sliva and T. J. Mynar to get their faces lifted, to keep the girls from knowing they were old enough to be grandpa's. Just across the street, Joan Krenek drove into W. Vaclavick's Serve-Yourself Service Station, for some juice-o'lean for her beautiful, super-duper, Model T.

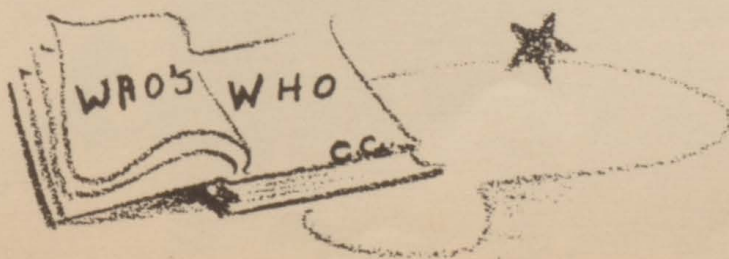

The city's mayor, Manford Foster, approached at this time. He told me that Leo Winters was district attorney and Elmer Treumer, Howard Snider and Tim Martinez were in the Police Department (the jail). I also found out that Minnie McDonald and Vincent Fromen, Jr. had gone to Hollywood to set the world on fire!!!

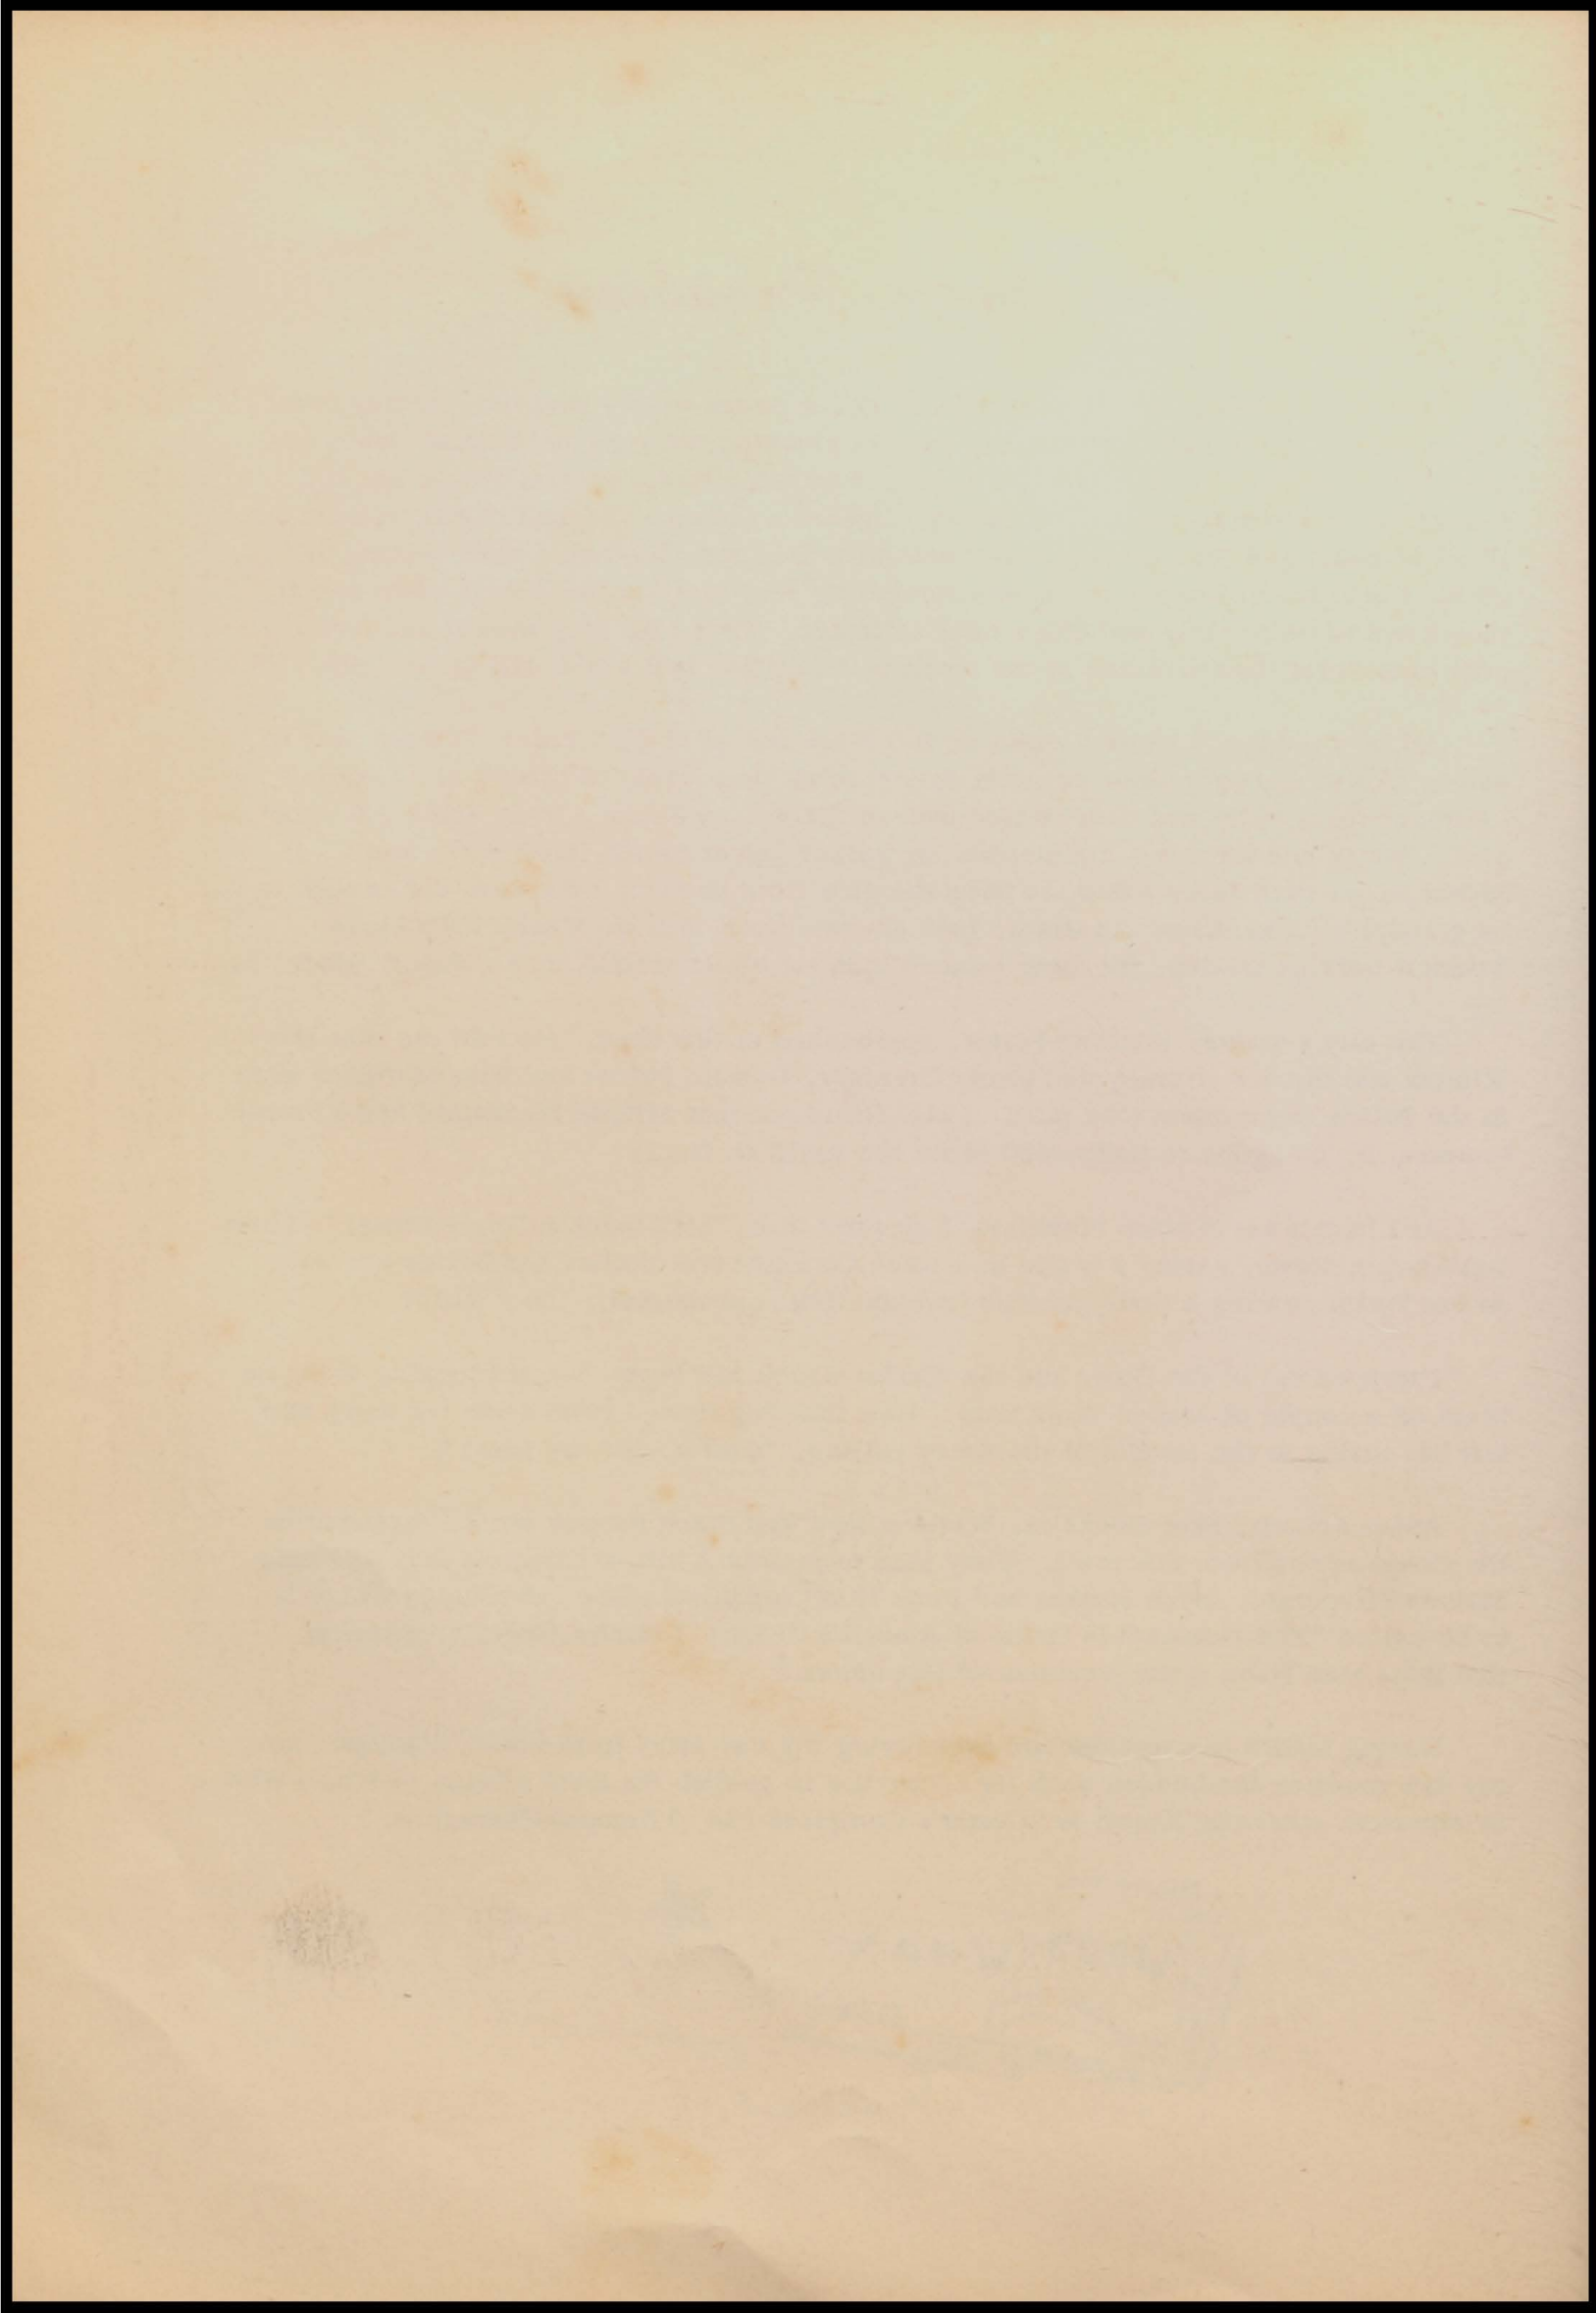

As I hadn't eaten since breakfast, I dropped in at "McKissick's Corral Diner." There was Margie Brown, eating a whale of a steak that cost five dollars and beside her was Arthur Foster, eating a little goldfish (twenty-five cent special). Poor Kid!!

I stepped out of the Diner and saw Carlos Vacek and Peggy Nygard jogging along on Main on a couple of broken-down nags. How that Peg rides. (The horse ran away and left her sitting in the middle of the street yelling, "Carlos, get my hoss!")

James Schurts, Paul Gonzales, Wallace New and Frank Krenek are all included in the Congressmen from this town. They plan to present a bill to Congress that will help Barbara Fitzgerald, Joyce Henkes and Irene Hickl organize a new labor union which is to be called "The Housewives Union of America." Oh! I almost forgot to mention that Edna Mae Hahn is the president of this union.

Having talked to everyone and overstaying my day away from home, I jumped into my new roadster and headed back for Clemville to publish the 2085 edition of Who's Who in America; otherwise known as "Cessor's Complete List of Famous Characters."
