Dedication

To those gallant men in Vietnam who have contributed, battled, labored, and died that others might be free,

To those valiant patriots who have made countless sacrifices, not for some worldly gain, nor personal glory, but that the freedom which Americans have been working and dying for these many decades might be preserved,

To the sons and brothers who have dared all and died willingly and, even in this moment, are dying still,

To you who have accepted the great and glorious legacy which our forebearers gave us, you who have pledged yourselves to be true to that legacy, we humbly and respectfully dedicate the 1969 edition of THE TIGER,

RIGHT - RESPONSIBILITY

One of the most frequently heard - and used - terms these days is the term, rights. Almost everybody is talking today about his rights; his rights as a taxpayer, or his rights as a citizen, or his rights as a member of this group or that group.

Adolescents describe their rights to the family automobile as inalienable. Minorities defend their right to be different. Nearly everyone is concerned with his right to associate with whom he pleases.

But with all this talk about rights, there has been very little discussion or concern with the basic concomitant of all rights - responsibility.

There is not right without some responsibility. The very right to an education, certainly a basic democratic necessity as well as a privilege, carries with it the responsibility for effort and seriousness of purpose.

Let us all remember that the Scales of Justice must balance; for every right that we enjoy we must assume a responsibility.

George K. Nelson

Principal's Message

THAT WHICH LIVES

That car which you think impresses people will soon be out of style and in a few years merely scrap. That home, the quiet elegance of which you think reflects favorably on your personality, will crumble even if it is not torn down in the forward march of progress.

That picture of you, taken with careful pose, will be something for future generations to talk and even laugh about, if indeed, it is kept long enough to be so noticed.

But the words you say to others today, those ideas and principles you cast into so important a part of life's ongoing stream - they will not crumble or become out of style. They will live in other lives long after the lips that framed them have gone back to the dust of the earth - because you breathed them into something that is alive and on-going. What words are you going to leave behind that will continue to live?

Senior Class Prophecy

It is the year 1979, and over the intercom vibrates the booming clear voice of NELSON SARDINEA as he announces the embarkment of flight 487 to the moon from gate 51. Looking across the launch-pad area, I notice the technicians, knuckle-headed ALTON VAVRA and slow-moving HENRY CALHOUN, checking out last minute details in order to assure a safe flight. Running past them, CATHY GUYNES waves her arms wildly as she trips in her third attempt to board the flight, but FREDDY DAMUTH, the elevator operator, pushes the button and the passengers are taken up to their seats, leaving her again.

As I enter the passenger cubicle, Stewardess NANCY KRENEK and Stewardess ELDA FLORES, an all time conversationalist, are escorting DAVID and STEPHEN USSERY of the renounced Ussery Bros. Incorporated to their private capsule. With everything under control, pilot JERRY ZEMANEK and co-pilot RONALD JANAK receive the orders for take-off.

After fifteen minutes of air travel, the afternoon meal consisting of red and blue tablets is served by TEREHA WADDLE, who is very concerned about the balanced diet. Meanwhile, GARY WHITE, leisurely striding to the cockpit, enters and calmly draws his atomic ray gun on the pilots, ordering them to change their course to Venus. Having noticed the suspicious character, secret agent 99, KATHY THORNBLOM, rushes up behind him and fires a pellet from her tranquilizer pistol. Quickly aiding her, the masculine assistants, LOUIS GURECKY and DAVID ZIELONKA, put him away. To add to the chaos, the Milky Way Meteors, consisting of BOBBY WAKEFIELD, DIANNE HAHN, and RONNIE KNEBEL, led by DARLENE WRATISLAW, swoosh by and swirl the rocket back on its course to the moon.

As the state of panic ceases, the crew prepares for the landing procedures, and the space ship slowly descends. Coming to a faultless halt, the air craft is prepared for unloading and the passengers scramble down the ramp. Last but not least, the prancing model, SANDRA GREEN, appears in her well-known pose, wearing a micro-mini skirt. Photographers, ROBERT CORNETT and ROY GLAZE, feverishly snap pictures.

Tearing my eyes away from the vivacious figure, I notice PAT NAISER and her troop of youngsters waving down the ice cream mobile driven by PAULETTE RIVES. Seeing a mad crowd gather at the "Satellite Ago-Go," I follow. Upon entering, I am greeted by space helmet check girl, GLORIA JUNEK, who smiles as she assigns a trigonometrical numeral to my head gear. Reaching the bar, I receive a "moon shine" mixed by MIKE HLOZEK, president of the A. A. Then I am escorted onto the dance floor by ANNETTE ZAPALAC to accompany her in doing her thing, the "crater crawl." Across the room playboy STUART JOHNSON is surrounded by moon bunnies, ELIZABETH KRENEK, who is tossing grapes into his mouth, MARY HELEN GAAS, who is jabbering constantly, and IRENE DABELGOTT, who is making goo-goo eyes. Suddenly, the lights go out, and go-go girls, Saucy SUSAN KEITH and Marvie MARGARET HICKEY appear in their gigantic transparent bubbles.

After their performance ends, a riot begins in the middle of the floor. It's a knock-down-drag-out between NANCY BACA and LANELL CORNELIUS over MIKE DANNELS. Soon the police force, ROSA MARTINEZ and IRMA BLACKMAN, arrive and separate the two brawling females. Rushing to the scene is Doctor ROBERT KUBALA assisted by head nurse LINDA DAMUTH who provide the necessary treatments.

Upon leaving, I collide with newspaper reporter, DONNA COX, as she scampers to the scene. Finally, away from the bustle, I get a lift in a souped-up space scooter driven by LAVERNE HURTA, a once big time taxi-cab driver back on earth. As I approach the launch-pad area, I notice BARBARA NEDBALEK'S name flashing in psychedelic letters across the top of a gigantic building, a factory producing wigs and toupees. Having experienced enough of life on the moon, I begin my flight back to earth.

Junior High.

"I have never had a feeling politically that did not spring from the Declaration of Independence . . . I would rather be assassinated on the spot than surrender it."

Abraham Lincoln

Tidehaven Intermediate Principal

People in all walks of life like to succeed, or at least have the feeling of success in doing some task. The difference in wanting success and having success, is what separates the successful person from the failures, and that is hard work. As athletic coaches so aptly put it "to pay the price." Not all of us will pay the price for success.

Ray Sparks

Blessing Elementary Principal

Many new and wonderful opportunities are available to students today; however, there is responsibility attached to the acceptance of all privileges and benefits.

As you thirst for change, we hope we have taught you to accept responsibility for your actions, to constantly strive to exercise good judgment, and to establish true values to guide you as you become responsible citizens.

Earl R. Adams

Markham Elementary Principal

To each child that passes through our schools we, as teachers, have a responsibility. A responsibility to do all in our power and knowledge to help develop this child in all phases of life; mental, physical, emotional and social. We must keep in mind that we are developing each child to live in a complex society, one in which we have had little or no experience ourselves. Therefore, we must teach this child to think for himself, to meet everyday problems in a practical way and to live in such a way that he will be of a contributing benefit to himself and his environment.

In the years ahead...

you're going to use electricity in lots of wonderful new ways...

Dishes and clothes will be washed by sound waves instead of suds. An "electronic housecleaner" will keep your whole house clean and dust-free. And CPL assures you there'll always be plenty of dependable, low-priced electricity to run all the electric wonders in your future! Central Power and Light Company, like more than 300 other investor-owned power companies throughout the country, is planning and building right now to make sure there'll always be plenty of power year after year for your every need.
